memon® Bionic InstrumentsRenature Your Life

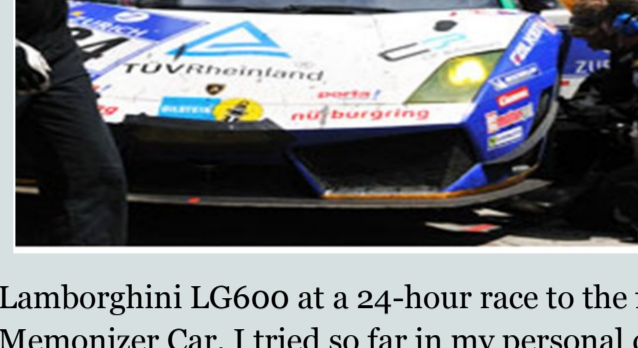

The memon® Bionic Instruments are the technological innovation which most clearly embodies well-being, reduced stress, comfort and environmental safety.

There is no other system which paves the way towards the future of removing energy-related environmental influences on people, animals and plants in the same way as the memon® technology.

This is our standard - for human, nature and the environment! (Hans Felder)

Concept-Quality Of Life

The memon® Bionic Instruments are a unique modular system that ensures holistic protection from negative environmental influences in all areas of life.

memon® harmonizes water, electro-smog, vehicles, radio waves, air and geopathic interference.

Sooner or later we feel the effects of environmental toxins, poor water quality, electro-smog, and various kinds of radiation. Day after day, we feel the stress caused by our high-technology lifestyles and the industrial production of our consumer goods and food. This greatly jeopardizes our health and the continued existence of a natural environment. The memon® system was developed to counteract the stressful impact of this energy and to preserve and protect the psychological and physical health of people in the long term. Man and his natural environment are more than the sum of chemical compounds; man can be defined, just as all forms of life on the earth, by the energy available to us.

Seven reasons for memon® :

1. memon® is holistic.

A harmonious environment is generated throughout the living and working space by using the natural principles of polarity and resonance.

2. memon® has a broad base of experience.

A number of tests and studies prove the positive effects and establish the basis of many years of extensive research.

3. memon® works naturally!

No electrical, chemical, or magnetic procedures are necessary, so the negative impact associated with them can be ruled out. memon® uses the range of the natural spectrum of light (sunlight).

4. memon® has been scientifically proven.

More and more scientists are fascinated by memon® technology and are researching its background. So the scientific basis of the technology is being broadened constantly.

5. memon® protects human cells.

Your cells are no longer stressed by the existing electromagnetic fields.

memon® Bionic Instruments effectively protects you and your cells from stress caused by electro smog for instance, and offers a new experience of well-being!

6. memon® considerably reduces civilization-related stress.

The memon® Bionic Instruments create a harmonious atmosphere, free from stressful radiation information.

7. memon® products are easy to install without affecting existing supply lines.

Convincing benefits :

memon® Bionic Instruments...

- ... promote well-being and vitality
- ... protect against electro-smog
- ... improve air quality
- ... reduce cell and body stress
- ... ensure fresh, delicious, soft, natural water
- ... reduce lime scale
- ... help lower costs
- ... neutralize interference
- ... have been proven for over 20 years
- ... protect and prevent damage, and oxidative stress

MEMON® BIONIC INSTRUMENTS.....RENATURE YOUR LIFE

History

Personal experience and the desire for improvement have often been the best resources for new ideas. And sometimes they can lead to something really big.

The engineer and technician Winfried M. Dochow found this out when he was forced to completely re-evaluate his life in the 70s following a severe illness. He searched for and found help in natural medicine after traditional medicine had given up on him.

Hans Felder (L) and Winfried Dochow (R)

His complete recovery inspired him to research the links between man and nature more closely. Studying old healing sciences also played an important role, as these are specifically based on the interaction between man and nature.

In 1982, he began experimenting on avoiding and removing negative environmental influences which had long been recognized as causing or worsening many typical 'diseases of civilisation'.

During the process, he developed a completely new technology which uses counter-vibrations (destructive interference) to neutralize damaging information vibrations. In 1986, expert panels at the Leikos Institute in Saarlouis became involved in developing and researching this technology.

Between 1990 and 1997, this was followed by joint research in the field at the Ludwig-Boltzmann Institute and the Joanneum Research Centre in Graz. After several hundred thousands of individual experiments and series of tests, the first transformer was born. In 1992, Winfried M. Dochow also set up his own research establishment in Soltau, the "IbA" (Institute for bio-energetic Analysis).

Logo der ipict®-Technologie

In the years to come, the first sales to therapists, healers and private users meant the technology began to become widespread in Austria and Bavaria. The year 2002 saw the start of a more intense sales drive.

So Winfried M. Dochow put together all the final production and marketing processes and handed them over to the Rosenheim-based company memon® Umwelttechnologie GmbH, run by Hans Felder.

This meant Mr Dochow could once again focus on his research work in order to develop the memon® technology further and make it usable in other areas.

The technology has been registered under the name "ipict®" at the German Trademark and Patent Office since 2004. The technology from Mr Dochow is finding an increasing level of acceptance not only in the scientific community, but also among enthusiastic users, who talk about the "inestimable benefits" this technology has brought them.

Thanks to the vision of Winfried M Dochow, who stuck with his research even throughout the difficult early years, that many of the damaging influences in modern everyday life can be effectively tackled.

Thousands of satisfied customers are now improving their tap water , air quality, harmonizing electro-smog and earth rays. They are experiencing and telling us about increased vitality, more well-being, harmony and significantly improved quality of life.

Philosophy

What makes us move

If we reduce nature to that which we understand, then we are not capable of survival. (Hans-Peter Dürr)

In our modern high-tech world, we need perspectives that bring us back into harmony with nature. Otherwise, our way of life will push nature further and further onto the sidelines and we will lose more and more of the foundation of our existence.

Any ignorant little boy can stamp on a beetle, but all the scientists in the world cannot put it together again. Today, we believe that we understand nature, yet we are still destroying the foundation of our existence.

memon® Bionic Instruments is in favor of promoting understanding for the way nature and people are linked. In the process, we want to encourage conscious handling of our resources. Every single person can help to create the foundations for natural living in order to enable us a healthy and harmonious life - at one with nature. This involves new, expanded consciousness and the willingness to swap old convictions for new values based on experience, or at least to alter them. But "it is harder to crack a prejudice than an atom" (Albert Einstein).

Today, it is more important than ever to be opened to new ideas and perspectives in order to provide a life in harmony with the laws of nature. memon® questions previous beliefs, dissolves blinkered perspectives and provides the opportunity to bring new, life-sustaining aspects into consciousness.

Discover memon® - live memon®!

Vision & aim: Technology and nature in harmony

Through education, the intention behind memon® Bionic Instruments is to help consciously preserve the environment and its resources. It is important to us to explain connections in nature comprehensibly and clearly.

If you live as one with nature, you strengthen your mental and physical health and you actually feel "on top of the world". To achieve this, you need a natural living environment and a healthy diet. But how can we achieve that when we are covering our fields with fertilizers, felling our forests and polluting our water and air? memon® intends to demonstrate that technology and nature are not mutually exclusive.

Natural use of land and resources are easily possible, as demonstrated by all the organic farmers. The memon® Bionic Instruments also frees your tap water, air, electro-smog and Earth radiation from their damaging information and supports their natural functions. At the same time, we publish a newsletter called "Naturally Healthy" which reports on the latest findings and ways of preserving the environment and your health. Only when every single one of us understands the natural cycles and lives holistically we can create and maintain an optimum quality of life.

Prevention and environmental protection provide quality of life

Many people believe that all our modern technical achievements mean we have to compromise on quality of life. When they have health problems, they turn to a doctor for help. But wouldn't it be better not to get ill in the first place? "Prevention is better than cure", said Hippocrates the doctor way back in Ancient Greece. And the same applies to environmental damage, as this can only be prevented through active environmental protection. And we cannot stay healthy if nature is not healthy either.

So, memon® is aiming to bring man and nature back together again. Remember, you can change nature, but you can't improve on it. The vision and aim of memon® Bionic Instruments is to return a natural, harmonious balance to all areas of life.

Experience confirms knowledge

As well as scientific tests, the personal experience of our users is really important to us. This confirms in practice what our research has already shown. Quality of life is improved, typical complaints relating to the modern civilized world are avoided and health is improved in the long term. This experience alone often helps contributing to a renewed awareness of nature.

The memon® product range improves your quality of life and your well-being. Health is a basic need! The memon® products create a harmonized environment in which you can recharge your energies, relax and stay healthy.

Technology

The approach

In order to reduce environmental pollution in the long term, damaging vibration information must be deleted, thus eliminating its negative impact. At the same time, the immediate environment should be naturally harmonized so it has a stress-relieving effect and promotes relaxation.

Effective range of the Memonizer Water

At the same time, we can recharge our energies without getting overstressed. The most natural energy for the body is within the visible light spectrum, because life on Earth has evolved within the sunlight energy frequencies and so is perfectly adjusted to it.

The technology

The memon® Bionic Instruments use destructive interference to free your surroundings of pathogenic information waves. Scalar wave technology is used for the transmission process. Each individual memon® Bionic Instruments contains an informed carrier substance and is fitted so that the transmission field covers the selected areas (e.g. main water, main electricity source, car batteries, phone batteries, etc.).

At the same time, specific energy quantum transformation is used to bring the environment back into the range originally intended by nature. (=Polarization). This range corresponds to the natural visible light spectrum, which vibrates between 390 and 780 nm. Greater than 550 nm for this vibration is plus-polar (=right-hand rotation), less is minus-polar (=left-hand rotation). Many experience studies have shown that the plus-polar light range has a particularly positive effect on biological systems (animals, people and plants). Experience shows that the optimum wavelength is around 750 nm, which is why the memon® Bionic Instruments is harmonized precisely at this level.

The name of the re-naturalization process is, "ipict®" (= information polarization interference chip technology) was registered with the German trademark and patent office in 2004.

The effect of all memon® products is essentially based on these two processes:

The principle of interference - positive influence on damaging information

The principle of polarity - shifting the polarization to the natural right-polar range

The effect

The re-naturalized environment has been proven to have a positive effect on all organic systems and supports their natural functions. The countless positive reactions from our users and the convincing research and test results confirm the extraordinary effect of the memon® Bionic Instruments again and again.

With memon®, you can harmonize your living environment, improve your quality of life and experience unprecedented wellbeing!

Success factors

Ten good reasons to choose memon® Bionic Instruments

We live memon®, do you live memon® too?

We have put together Ten good reasons to choose memon® Bionic Instruments:

1. memon® works on an integrated basis

The most important benefit of all memon® Bionic Instruments is that they can create harmony and nurturing in all aspects of life. Whether the strain comes from outside (e.g. high voltage lines, radio antennas, overhead lines for trains), from inside (e.g. all the electrical cables in the home, electrostatic charge, creep current) or from deep under the ground, known as earth radiation (e.g. from water veins, rock faults, global reticules, curry reticules): All areas can be harmonized using memon® Bionic Instruments, which means they lose their disruptive influence which can be damaging to humans.

Other companies have also discovered how important this characteristic is and are therefore optimizing their products using memon® Bionic Instruments.

2. memon® has a broad base of experience

In 1982, personal circumstance and experience led developer Winfried M. Dochow to carry out various tests in order to develop the memon® Bionic Instruments. As of 1986, more research was carried out at the Leikos Institute in Saarlouis, with later assignments taking him to the Ludwig Boltzmann Institute and in 1990, to the Joanneum Research Centre in Graz, where he stayed until 1997, perfecting his system all the time.

In the meantime, he had founded his own institute in 1992, which brought further experience, so that the current memon® Bionic Instruments is based on several hundred thousand individual experiments and tests and all the experiences gained from them, all of which adds up to guarantee and to confirm the uniqueness and extraordinary effect of the memon® Bionic Instruments.

3. memon® works on a natural basis

memon®'s effect does not rely on electrical, chemical or magnetic processes and therefore, it does not have the side effects.

4. memon® is increasingly being confirmed by the scientific community

You can find out more at Research.

5. memon® Bionic Instruments supports the body cells with right-polarity.

More information can be found at Light spectrum.

6. memon® products are very simple and easy to install and use.

Therefore, when installing the memonizer, it is important to consider the irradiation fields. Normally, this is a simple, risk-free installation which does not involve touching existing systems, whether electrical or water.

7. memon® considerably reduces the strains resulting from civilization.

More information can be found at Principles

8. memon® doesn't work wonders, but it is a wonderful technology

Because memon® Bionic Instruments root is simple, physical rules. And the ongoing research of these principles is not only our goal, but also engaging more and more independent researchers worldwide.

More technical and scientific information is provided under Principles.

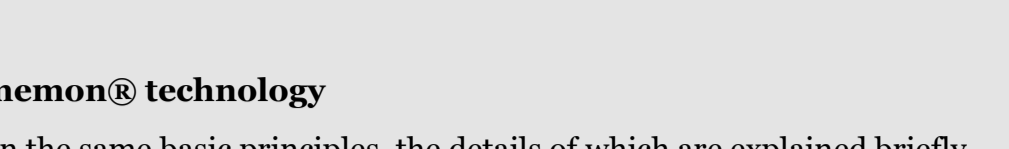

9. The memon® principle is continually developed and new applications discovered.

Scientist Winfried M Dochow and his team are still researching.

10. Your experience counts!

You can tell us all about your positive results everyday experience of using the memon® Bionic Instruments.

Principles

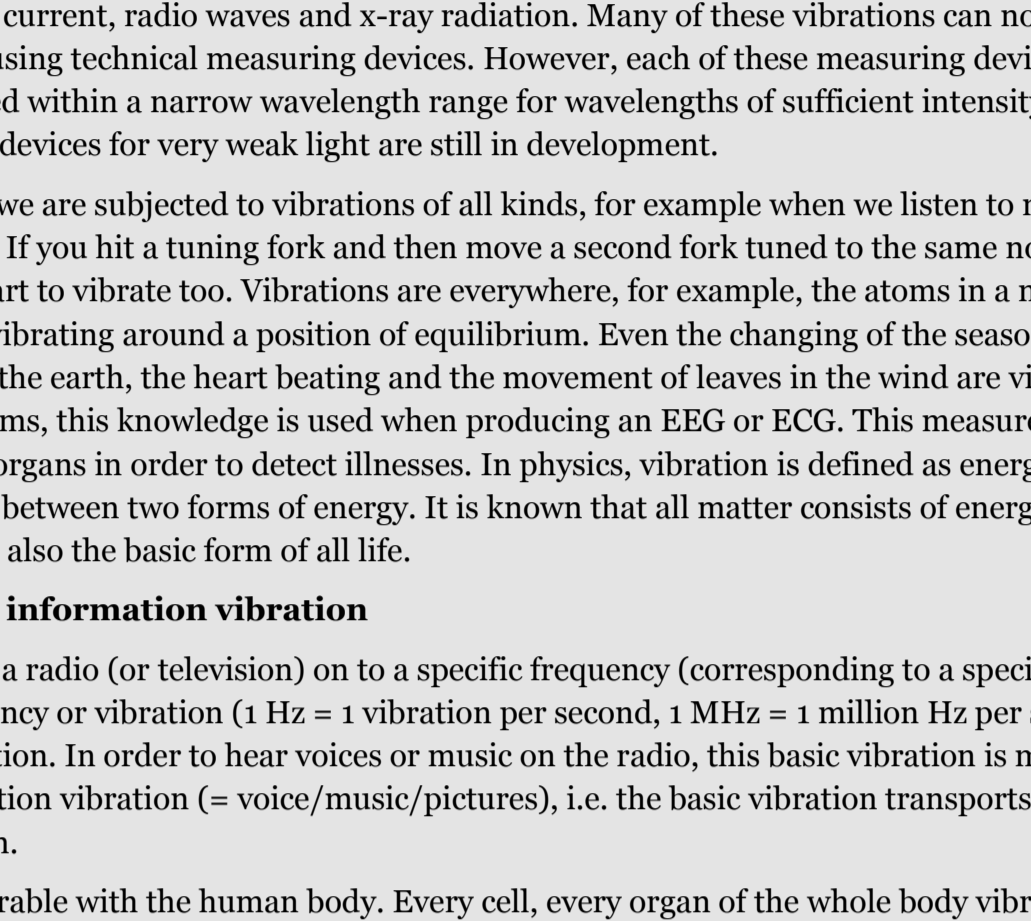

The principles of the memon® technology

All the memonizer work on the same basic principles, the details of which are explained briefly below. Take a few moment to discover more details on the principles of our work here.

Our lives are shaped by polarity and resonance.

The memon® Bionic Instruments is based on these fundamental principles, as is the way the memon® Memonizer work. By using the principles of nature, such as the natural light spectrum (390 - 780 nm) and environment as the basis for all processes, the really important factors are taken into consideration. After all, the use of physical laws, such as that of destructive interference to delete pathogenic information patterns, is the perfect complement to the unique integrated memon® technology.

Vibrations

There are a wide range of vibrations in nature. Some of these vibrations, such as sound, light and heat, can be perceived by the human senses.

Other vibrations can only be perceived by certain animals. Other types of vibration are alternating current, radio waves and x-ray radiation. Many of these vibrations can now be measured using technical measuring devices. However, each of these measuring devices can only be measured within a narrow wavelength range for wavelengths of sufficient intensity. Measuring devices for very weak light are still in development.

Every day, we are subjected to vibrations of all kinds, for example when we listen to music or sit on a swing. If you hit a tuning fork and then move a second fork tuned to the same note close to it, it will start to vibrate too. Vibrations are everywhere, for example, the atoms in a molecular lattice are vibrating around a position of equilibrium. Even the changing of the seasons, the rotation of the earth, the heart beating and the movement of leaves in the wind are vibrations. In medical terms, this knowledge is used when producing an EEG or ECG. This measures vibrations within the organs in order to detect illnesses. In physics, vibration is defined as energy conversion between two forms of energy. It is known that all matter consists of energy - so vibration is also the basic form of all life.

Basic and information vibration

You switch a radio (or television) on to a specific frequency (corresponding to a specific channel). This frequency or vibration (1 Hz = 1 vibration per second, 1 MHz = 1 million Hz per second) is a basic vibration. In order to hear voices or music on the radio, this basic vibration is modulated to an information vibration (= voice/music/pictures), i.e. the basic vibration transports the information.

It is comparable with the human body. Every cell, every organ of the whole body vibrates like a transmitter at a specific basic vibration (= life energy), whereby individual organs can emit different energies (vibrations) from the whole energy of the body. Of course, this has a specific effect. The information (the quality, order, composition and structure) shaped by this basic vibration is very important. This provides hugely important information about the health status of the person.

We all know from dark field microscopy recordings how healthy blood should look (blood image = information). If this image changes (e.g. formation of clots, too few leucocytes, etc.), i.e. if the structure / order changes, then the information content (information vibration) of the blood also changes.

The memon® Bionic Instruments is based on the finding that every vibration also carries information with it. This information characterizes a vibration wave as neutral, damaging or healthy.

Winfried M. Dochow, the developer of the memon® Bionic Instruments, spent 20 years researching the information content of vibrations and their effect on biological systems. In doing so, he recognized that vibrations generated by technology and not emitted by nature itself generally have a detrimental effect on humans. This detrimental effect has been more intensively researched and confirmed recently in conjunction with "electro-smog".

Information vibrations which are transported on the basic vibration of water are particularly significant. The effects on water quality as a function of the information vibrations stored have now been extensively researched. Many findings on this have been published in recent years (see, for example, the book "Achtung Wasser" [Warning: Water] by Bernd Bruns or the Crystal Photographs by Masaru Emoto).

The solution

The approach to solving the problem was as logical as it was inspired: the damaging information needed to be removed from the vibrations. When researching the damaging effect of information waves, there was a "basic pattern" of potentially damaging effects which could be defined and summarized. In order to delete all this damaging information, Mr. Dochow utilized the principle of destructive interference.

The principle of resonance is used - which states that an exactly identical counter vibration to the information vibration, but with a different phase is formed so that the relevant waves cancel each other out. The basic vibration loses the damaging information and therefore the pathogenic effect. All known damaging information can be targeted in this way (i.e. only if they are there) and completely deleted.

This applies to pulsed vibration fields (mobile phones, radio masts, cordless telephones), alternating current fields and electromagnetic fields (all electrical devices and cables connected to a circuit) and static radiation fields, but also to what are known as "geopathic interference zones", such as earth rays, water veins, etc.

What is remarkable about this procedure is that no new information is 'recorded' onto the pathogenic vibrations. This is often the unfortunate consequence of other procedures we are familiar with! Another of the transformer's excellent characteristics is the fact that it shifts the polarity of the vibration into the right-polar range.

Invigorate your environment with natural vibrations -

Deleting damaging information

In nature too, there are not only positive vibrations, but also ones whose information quality can have a damaging effect in the long term. These include vibrations from underground water veins and rock faults.

The memon® Memonizer can completely delete the damaging information waves from all vibration fields (static, electromagnetic, electric or pulsed) using the process of destructive interference. This means that two waves of the same wavelength, frequency, speed, phase and amplitude meet one another. If these waves are also 180° out from one another in terms of phase (= the trough of one wave meets the crest of another and vice versa) then the two waves cancel each other out. This phenomenon is known as destructive interference.

Natural balance for your well-being memon® Memonizer use this principle to harmonies the air, the water, radio waves, electro-smog and Earth radiation. The existing fields lose their damaging information vibration and therefore the effect of stress on the body. This means the body can recover consistently, general well-being is improved and health is stabilized on a long term basis. memon® gives you new quality of life and more vitality!

Vibration information

Vibrations, which occur rarely or not at all in nature, often have a pathogenic effect on biological control systems. Electrical and electromagnetic fields have a proven negative effect on the body. This is because our bodies control their bodies using tiny electrical impulses!

At the 2nd International Conference on "Weak and Super-Weak Fields and Radiation in Biology and Medicine", which took place from 4th to 7th July 2000 in St. Petersburg, the 330 research teams were presented with various findings, including work by the Institute of Cytology at the Russian Academy of Science (led by Prof. Jurij Vakhtin).

This proved that living cells react to weak electromagnetic signals from outside and perceive them as specific "commands". This made it clear that it was not the field strength that makes the impact, but the cell biological information emitted by it. This "error" information was in effect until the death of the cell! "The discussion about limits for electromagnetic radiation is now only of historical interest," wrote the press after the publication of the research results. So the body reacts to electro-smog with "permanent stress". So it is no surprise that sleep problems, headaches, faintness, irritability, general ill health and worse can be attributed to it.

Light spectrum

The visible light spectrum is part of the overall cosmic frequency spectrum. Life on our Earth has only been able to develop and survive within a narrow frequency range. The spectral range of the visible light spectrum is from around 390 nm to 780 nm (expressed in wavelengths) or 4×10^{14} Hz to 7.5×10^{14} Hz (expressed in the frequency of the light). Our technical achievements, the frequency patterns of which are generally outside the natural light spectrum, are increasingly having an unfavorable effect on our lives.

The memon ipict® environmental technology restores the natural status of the vibration spectrum to our everyday lives, which corresponds to the natural influence of sunlight. In the long term, this energy state is the best for the human body to live and develop vitality. By using natural resonance frequencies, memon environmental technology converts the energy spectrum into these natural parameters.

This is especially important as we spend over 90 percent of our lives in artificially in the rooms and the impact of this on our health is unknown. Our entire hormone system is controlled by light in conjunction with its vibrational quality. This underlines the revitalizing effect of the memon® memonizer.

Information

All cells are based on natural sunlight, are fed, preserved and controlled by light, because light contains all life impulses and frequencies. We need the light information contained in physical materials (e.g. in foods and natural medications).

Non-organic material also stores information. Our bodies interact with this stored information. Environmental pollution, such as e-smog, chemicals and interference fields influence and alter these information patterns. This results in damaging (pathogenic) information content for our body. Physical problems are therefore not just a result of the toxins, but also of the damaged information frequencies in the matter.

The memon® Memonizer Water specifically harmonizes the damaging information through interference. We harmonize the information vibrations in the material and thus provide an environment where a natural way of being allows new levels of well-being!

Right-polarity

Light has a circular polarization (rotating). As all life on our Earth evolved under the natural influence of sunlight and sunlight is primarily right-polar, the components of our bodies are shaped by this. Therefore, their vibrations are right-polar.

Body cells recognize this right-polarity and can utilize these nutrients better. However, environmental influences often invert this polarity, which has a negative effect on the body.

Natural foodstuffs and nutrients have right-polar properties because the sunlight is stored naturally.

Unfortunately, this natural polarity is often destroyed by the negative influences of the environment, chemicals, electro-smog, industrial processing and improper handling. The result is considerably reduced value to the body. The memon® Bionic Instruments restores the right-polar vibration.

ipict®

Information Polarization Interference Chip Technology

Ipict® is a technology we have developed which is based on the laws of resonance and interference in nature.

It works on the principle of specific, energy quantum transformation and also uses scalar wave technology for specific transfer of information. Ipict® is based on the physical laws of radiation and resonance and has a balancing effect on particulate vibration levels. This means that pathogenic information vibrations are completely deleted at the particulate level using interference. The damaging effect of this information on people, animals and plants is thus eradicated.

This technology also shifts the energy back to the energy focus of the visible light spectrum, which revitalizes the environment once again. This energy level favors the functioning of all organic systems, as its natural effect corresponds to that of sunlight. Ipict® is an integrated technology which shows the way to a healthy future, a future that is worth living.

Ipict® is therefore a modern, integrated technology for a healthier, better future.

Do you live memon®, too?

Earth Radiation

Do you have problems sleeping, feel tense in the morning or feel listless and lack energy despite of getting enough sleep? Or do you have a serious illness? Findings in alternative medicines suggest it is likely that the place that you sleep is subject to geopathic interference zones (Earth radiation).

Geopathic interference zones are specific areas on the surface of the Earth to which detrimental effects on living organisms are attributed. The most well known are water veins, rock fragments, rock faults and the global and Curry reticules.

For example, some water veins produce very strong radiation. It is not yet fully understood what causes this radiation. However, it is assumed that the friction between the water and the various rock strata in the Earth causes an energetic effect. The body absorbs this energy and reacts to the stimulation with imperceptible tension and a variety of problems.

After fitting a memon® Memonizer , the radiation information from the water vein is neutralized. This permits calm, relaxing sleep.

Technical radiation

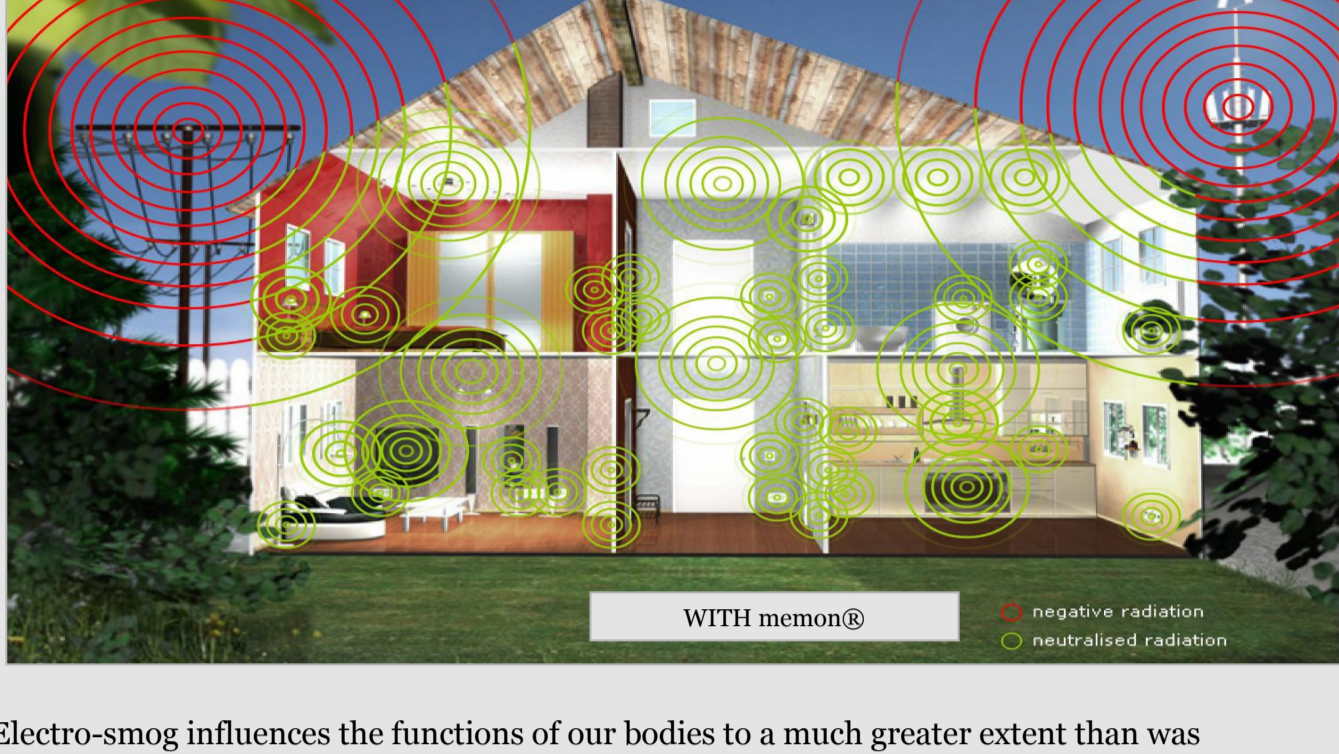

Many environmental pollutants are undetectable by humans.

Our flats, houses and offices are interspersed with an inescapable network of technical installations. Electrical cables, household appliances, televisions and radios, machines and computers emit various different electromagnetic fields.

WITH memon®

Electro-smog influences the functions of our bodies to a much greater extent than was imaginable just a few years ago. Because of the high-tech lives we lead, we are constantly exposed to alternating electromagnetic fields.

They also have a huge effect on our health and well-being. For a long time, the effect of weak electrical and electromagnetic fields and waves, as found in every household, on the health remained unknown. Today this is no longer tenable. Medical research has shown that even weak electrical and electromagnetic fields can have biological effects. Electrical cables, switches, sockets, plugged-in devices such as bedside lights (even when the power is switched off), clock radios, baby monitors, etc. all have an effect on our bodies. Nerves and muscle cells are given the incorrect information.

memon® Solutions

memon® brings harmony into your life

We are subject to all sorts of environmental stresses. These unnatural conditions are often caused by man. But we can also do something to restore the conditions nature intended. Here you can see the solutions for various areas.

Water

Spring water from the tap

Would you like good-tasting, naturally harmonized water of spring water quality? You can have this at home or in the office using the memon® Memonizer Water.

By completely deleting all pathogenic information and shifting the vibrations to the natural, right-polar range analogous to sunlight, the natural quality and vibration harmony is restored to the water.

It is simple to install in your home and you will feel the change immediately: the water coming out of the taps is noticeably softer, tastes delicious and rich, and feels silky and pleasant on the skin when you are having a bath or shower. Our users' experience shows that the improved quality helps save up to 40 % on soap and detergent.

The re-natured structure significantly reduces lime scale and what is left can easily be removed with a damp cloth, which also protects your pipes and appliances which use water. Animal lovers are constantly telling us how their pets now prefer the water to rainwater. You can even see that your plants grow at above-average rates. Improve the natural life energy in your home and experience increased vitality and wellbeing - with memon® Memonizer water!

We would like to explicitly point out that memon's products are not medicines or medical products in accordance with the German Medicines Ordinance or the Medical Products Act.

Water info

We know that our bodies consist of around 70 % water, depending on our age. We can survive without food for a few weeks, but without water it is just a few days. If we consume water containing toxins, we are, over a period of years, creating the starting point for problems or illnesses. While our water is often harmless in chemical terms, it is often heavily loaded with toxin information.

Man and Water

Water - the creative force for all life

All life began in the ancient oceans. Like the earth, our bodies consist of around 70 % water.

The health of our planet and therefore our own health is directly causally linked to the degree of purity and the energy content of our water.

It is water that makes it possible for the cell groups in an organism to communicate by fulfilling the following functions, among others:

- Transport of nutrients
- Promote cleansing
- Remove waste products from the metabolism
- Maintain the osmotic pressure of the cells
- Regulate body temperature

Insufficient saturation of the body with water, i.e. drinking less than 2 liters a day, leads to a shortage, the body gets thirsty, which in turn leads to premature ageing of the body cells.

Water and light

Matter is produced by the deceleration of energy vibrations, and the energy forms of water are solid, liquid and gas. Water has a matter has a specific geometric form: it forms tetrahedrons, one of the five platonic bodies.

The formation of these hydrogen connections involves biophotons, which represent pure light energy. This proves that water is also an energy supplier and energy source, i.e. the structuring process for water contains pure light energy. This explains why pure H₂O is the product of chemical cleaning processes.

The structure and therefore the energy content are lost, however, and this is what we call dead water. It is not the matter which is responsible for the presence of the energy content, but the structuring, which binds in light energy.

Water has a memory like an elephant. Every water molecule has its own unmistakable identity, no two are the same. If you melt a snowflake under natural conditions and freeze it again under the same conditions, the snowflake formed will be exactly the same.

So we can conclude: water has the capacity to remember. So water is more than just H₂O, if it is not destroyed and robbed of the capacity to store information by careless handling of the geometric structure, which damages the hydrogen bridges which connect water molecules and thus destroys the electromagnetic frequency pattern. Water can only store information when in a structured, energy-binding state.

Tap water

To supply drinking water, the water is taken from what is known as raw water. It must be treated before it can be drunk. Water refining plants regularly check the quality of their water in accordance with the Drinking Water Ordinance. Many of the chemical toxins (pesticides, fungicides) present in the water are not tested, let alone filtered out. When we drink the water, not only do we take in individual substances, but often whole cocktails of toxins.

Chalk in tap water

Lime scale in the tap water largely comes from regions with high levels of chalk and thus contains many calcium and magnesium salts. Very hard water (i.e. with a high level of chalk) can lead, among other things, to

- significantly reduced service life for pipes (lime scale deposits eventually silting up the whole pipe, etc.)
- increased energy consumption and damage to equipment that uses water (washing machine, dishwasher, kettle, boiler, industrial machinery, etc.)
- Various health issues

Mineral water

Mineral water is water from mineral sources or water to which mineral salts and/or carbon dioxide is added artificially. Mineral waters and spa waters are by no means empty, i.e. can be absorbed for bodily cleansing. Their mineral content is generally too high for detoxification purposes. The use of mineral water makes sense for a limited period, but not long term. Some mineral waters would not be allowed as tap water for consumers as the limits for drinking water are often exceeded.

What does water energy harmonization mean?

The effect of light energy harmonizes the chaotic destructive water structure, which still contains the information about high levels of environmental pollution, etc. despite intensive chemical cleansing processes.

By influencing the information and realigning the polarization of the water, the water is restructured and energy is included. The water is revitalized and its new structure means that the habitat for bacteria is removed and they cannot reform because of the structured nature of the water.

Another consequence of the revitalization process is a provable influence - in physical and energetic terms - on the negative information contained in the water (studies by the Boltzmann Institute in Graz).

Electro-Smog

memon® makes electro-smog harmless

Do you suffer from frequent headaches, problems sleeping, nervousness or poor performance? Numerous medical reports suggest that this could be down to electro-smog.

Pamper your cells and allow them to recover with a memon® Memonizer Combi. This frees the entire electrical system in your home or office from damaging information and shifts the energy plan to a plus-polar range which is healthy for biological organisms.

It harmonizes all cables and flexes for appliances connected to the power network and their electromagnetic fields in a natural way.

The result: Your body cells no longer react to the presence of the fields with stress. Working at a computer is no longer as tiring and your eyes are less irritated. At night, you can enjoy deep, relaxing sleep again. The memon® Bionic Instruments effectively protects you from the strain of electro-smog and gives you a completely new feeling of well-being!

We would like to explicitly point out that memon's products are not medicines or medical products in accordance with the German Medicines Ordinance or the Medical Products Act.

E-Smog info

E-Smog - danger from sockets

Electro-smog influences the functions of our bodies to a much greater extent than was imaginable just a few years ago. Due to the high-tech lives we lead, we are constantly exposed to alternating electromagnetic fields.

They also have a huge effect on our health and well-being. For a long time, the effect of weak electrical and electromagnetic fields and waves, as found in every household, on the health remained unknown. Today this is no longer tenable. Medical research has shown that even weak electrical and electromagnetic fields can have biological effects. Electrical cables, switches, sockets, plugged-in devices such as bedside lights (even when the power is switched off), clock radios, baby monitors, etc. all have an effect on our bodies. Nerves and muscle cells are given the wrong information.

Even low levels of electro-smog can lead to increased occurrences of the symptoms below:

- Headaches and migraines
- Muscle tension
- Concentration problems
- Irritability, sleeplessness
- Nervousness
- Weakening of the immune system
- Night sweats
- Allergies
- Leukemia
- Circulation problems
- Problem with vegetative functions
- Changes in genetic make up
- Impotence
- Bed-wetting

Electricity

The increasingly technical nature of our civilized world with large-area fields and non-ionized waves is the most unpredictable, greatest global threat to all our natural, everyday routines. This electro-smog is unnatural, it is an artificial product of our technological era - a kind of waste product from modern industry.

The generation, transport and consumption of electricity produces electrical and magnetic fields which are constantly emitting pathogenic (illness inducing) information into the environment.

In our body, all the functions are controlled by small low-frequency electrical impulses. As we are made up of up to 70 % water - which is a very good conductor of electricity and information - we absorb virtually all the radiation like a sponge. This results in errors (incorrect commands in the biological processes), which in turn leads to mental and physical stress - and thus to damage to our body.

Bad health is cultivated - good health prevented.

AIR

Breathe freely with memon®

You must be aware of it: in city flats and in offices, the air often feels bad, sticky even. The result can be rapid fatigue, mucus membrane infections, headaches, unwellness and frequent respiratory tract infections.

The reason: The air's self-cleaning systems are blocked by high concentrations of toxins, electro-smog also increases the negative effect. Healthy mountain or sea air contains over 3000 negative ions per cm³, while in some city flats it can be as few as 100 or less. Measurements of less than 30 negative ions per cm³ have even been taken from the air in some offices!

A memon® Memonizer Combi ensures a natural flow of the negative ions (from the ceiling to the floor). This restores the air's self-cleaning function. Measurements have proved that the number of germs and dust particles measured in the air can be reduced by up to 86%! Even the finest particulates measurable (0.3 µm) can be bound and transported away. The air becomes noticeably fresher, and performance and concentration are preserved. Smells dissipate more quickly and people with allergies suffer less.

Breathe good country air in the city - with the memon® Bionic Instruments!

We would like to explicitly point out that memon's products are not medicines or medical products in accordance with the German Medicines Ordinance or the Medical Products Act.

Air info

What is air?

From a chemical perspective, the air around us consists of a variety of different substances. The main elements are nitrogen (N₂) and oxygen (O₂) at approximately 78% and 21% respectively. The third component is water vapor (H₂O) at around 1.4%, depending on the air humidity level. There are also varying concentrations of the following in the air: argon (Ar) approx. 1%, carbon dioxide (CO₂) approx. 0.03%. Also present are other rare gases (neon, helium, methane, krypton, xenon), hydrogen (H₂), dinitrogen monoxide (N₂O), ozone (O₃), nitrogen oxide, sulphur oxide, ammonia, carbon monoxide and, depending on the area, the air is also full of dust and other industrial gases, heavy metal compounds, pollen, spores, microorganisms or other pathogens, perfumes, etc.

The air we live on

The climatic conditions shaped by the Earth's atmosphere and the air define life on Earth. The negative influence of our high-tech lives has disrupted the balance between the climatic conditions and our natural environment. viruses, poisonous substances found in the home, bacteria and electro-smog jeopardize our health.

Electrical charges in the form of positive and negative ions which we cannot perceive as such, ensure a positive outlook and physical wellbeing. The quantity of the negatively charged ions in the air around us is significant. The number of negative ions needed by the body increases at the same rate as the pollution in the air.

Possible consequences:

- Concentration problems
- Nervousness
- Irritability
- Drying out of mucus membranes
- Susceptibility to respiratory infections
- Fear and stress
- Dizzy spells
- Early tiredness
- Breathing difficulties
- Downturn in performance

Longer term problems can include circulation problems and/or allergies and even chronic illnesses.

Types of air and their properties

Healthy air

The gases present in the air exchange bonds with one another. Ions, i.e. particles with an electrical charge, are produced as a result of natural and artificial radiation - e.g. lightning. In normal air, the balance of positive and negative ions in the air is roughly in balance.

The higher the proportion of negatively charged particles per cubic centimeter, the better (healthier) the air is. Negative ions can attach themselves to environmental pollutants, pollen, smoke particles, fungal spores, etc. and bring them to the ground. This cleans the air. Secretions of the mucus membranes and movement of the cilium in the nose increase, oxygen absorption improves and breathing frequency drops. For example, by the sea and in the mountains there are 4000 negative ions per cubic centimeter of air, while in the countryside it is 1000.

Air allows the following important biological processes, among others:

- Breaking down food to given energy to the cells, with the help of oxygen Maintaining all bodily functions
- Removal of waste products from the metabolism
- Regulating the body temperature

Good air is an important factor for our mental and physical well-being.

House air

As well as the emissions from industry and motor vehicles which penetrate into our homes from outside, there are also particulates from plastic materials, carpets, artificial fibers, cigarette smoke, central heating, etc. Static charges and electromagnetic fields, formaldehyde and solvents from paints and glues, as well as other gases from furniture, walls, ceilings and floor reduce the number of important negative ions in our air enormously.

This means that our homes often have fewer than 100 negative ions per cubic centimeter. At the same time, in our homes, the balance between positive and negative ions is being shifted towards the unhealthy positive ions by what are known as geopathic interference zones:

- Water veins
- Rock faults
- Ore layer
- Hartmann reticule
- Curry reticule
- PWL ray (plant growth laser)

Thanks to all these influences, we have an excessive proportion of positive ions in our homes. The detrimental influence on the wellbeing of many people and even on their social behavior (e.g. aggressiveness) is well documented.

Office air

It is not only air pollution and meteorological influences which can shift the balance between positive and negative ions. The way modern offices are built also has a significant influence. As well as the known factors (see homes), there is also an increased use of electronics (computers, air-conditioning, photocopier, fluorescent lights, etc.) in offices. This means there are often as few as 30 negative ions per cubic centimeter or even fewer in these areas.

Telephone info's

What is telephone radiation?

Like electricity, everyday life is inconceivable without mobile and cordless phones. Mobile and cordless phones emit electromagnetic waves which are modulated. Modulation defines the carrier wave for the information.

The mobile phone networks currently installed emit in a range between 800 megahertz and 1.9 gigahertz. The new networks will transmit in the 2.4 and 2.8 gigahertz range and even at 4 and 5 gigahertz. While nature works with continuous vibrations, modern mobile phone technology transmits unnatural, pulsed vibrations. These pulsed - i.e. switched on an off periodically - vibrations disrupt biological processes and penetrate deep inside homes and buildings through even the tiniest of gaps. Because of resonance phenomena, these waves can vibrate into biological systems and thus considerably influence our health.

Telephone radiation and its properties

Mobile

Depending on the network (D or E networks), transmissions are in the frequency ranges 0.8 to 0.9 GHz (gigahertz) and 1.8 to 1.9 GHz. It is the pulsing that makes the microwave radiation of mobile phones particularly damaging.

When switched on, a mobile phone is a transmitter which radiates directly into the head. Research by Prof Leif-Salford (a neurosurgeon at the Swedish University in Lund) on rat brains has shown that mobile phone radiation can open the blood brain barrier and thus allow "toxins" easier access to the brain.

Electromagnetic radiation caused dark spots, known as necro-secrens, in the damaged brains of the test animals. Destroyed nerve cells can lead to neurological failure and problems. For children and young people, it is significantly more dangerous to be subjected to this radiation as their central nervous systems are not yet fully developed.

DECT cordless telephone

Cordless DECT telephones are like your own mobile phone station in the home. These devices transmit at around 1.8 gigahertz with a frequency of 100 Hertz. These devices are permanent transmitters, i.e. they emit their pulsed high-frequency radiation around the clock. This occurs even when you are not making calls and the receiver is on the charger. The latest generation of DECT telephones has already reacted to this fact. Now they only transmit when there is a signal.

Research findings on the effect of pulsed radiation:

- Damage to genetic material (DNA breakage)
- Disruption to cell communication
- Influence on the central nervous system
- Weakening of the immune system
- Effects on the hormone system
- Reduction of the central hormone melatonin
- Increased risk of cancer
- Tendency to infertility, deformity and irregularities in pregnancy
- Opening of the blood brain barrier
- EEG changes, even when asleep

The following health problems have been observed in conjunction with pulsed transmission technology:

- Nervous complaints: headaches, disturbed sleep, concentration problems. Exhaustion, tiredness, depression and irritability reduction of ability to learn
- Problem failing asleep and staying asleep
- Behavioral problem in children, such as hyperactivity and aggressiveness, learning difficulties, growth problems, developmental problems
- Heart rate problems and high blood pressure
- Noises in the air (tinnitus) and dizziness
- Eye irritation and problem with sight
- Changes in blood patterns, especially in children, the red blood cells do not mature properly. So they a reduced capacity to transport oxygen. The result is anemia-like symptoms.
- Problem with microcirculation-poor circulation
- Risk of thrombosis due the clothing, i.e. clumping of the red blood cells in the small blood vessels worsening of existing conditions is also possible
- Cancer, especially brain tumors

Radiation from telephones

It is assumed in various scientific circles that the use of mobile phones and telephone systems could have a detrimental effect on physical wellbeing and on brain activity.

Possible consequences of the use of mobile phones and telephones:

- Increased break-up of DNA structures in brain cells
- Increased production of stress proteins, changes of brain flows headaches, unrest, eye infections
- Increased incidence of brain tumors
- Memory problem
- Lack of concentration, etc.

Caution!

Up to 30 minutes after a mobile phone conversation, there is an increased risk of accident because of the disruption of neuro-physiological processes. Even after using a mobile phone for just a few minutes, the blood brain barrier can become permeable: Destruction of nerve cells thanks to the penetration of albumin and products of metabolism (body toxins).

Possible consequences:

- Weakening of the immune system
- Effects on the hormone system, reduction of the control hormone melatonin
- Increased risk of cancer
- Tendency to infertility, deformity and irregularities in pregnancy
- Damage to genetic makeup (DNA)
- Increased risk of head and eye tumors

Motor vehicles

Healthy driving with the memon® Memonizer CAR

Driving a car puts a real strain on the driver's body.

Permanent vibrations in the vehicle lead not only to stress on the actual seat, but also have jarring effects on the spinal column. Complaints such as tension in the neck and shoulder area and cold feet thanks to poor circulation can make driving sheer hell.

Not only the poor air quality thanks to emissions from all motor vehicles, but also the electro-smog from all the technical gizmos fitted and particulates from upholstery, glues and exhausts make driving a car an extreme situation for the driver. And that is before we take into account the mental stress caused by modern traffic.

The various electrical circuits and air friction within the car can also cause electromagnetic voltage fields which have a long-term effect on the body.

The Memonizer CAR from memon® is a very effective aid.

The memon® Memonizer CAR harmonizes the damaging information in the electromagnetic and static fields. It protects against external and internal electromagnetic interference fields and reduces electrostatic charge to a minimum.

By depolarizing the whole vehicle, even the air friction resistance can be reduced. Car drivers have reported that they have even reduced fuel consumption as a result.

Vehicles of all kinds, including cars, lorries, motor homes, buses, ships and motorboats can all benefit from the memon® Memonizer Vehicle.

We would like to explicitly point out that memon's products are not medicines or medical products in accordance with the German Medicines Ordinance or the Medical Products Act.

Vehicles - Info's

Radiation in vehicles

Inside vehicles, there are electro-static charge fields which can affect the human body in the long term. These charge fields are generated by friction in the air and by the increasing number of electrical circuits and technical components in modern vehicles.

- There are now up to 8000m of cables
- 60-100 motors
- Up to 60 microprocessors
- Various transmitters (remote control, telephone)
- These blast the interior with toxins
- Electrostatic charge

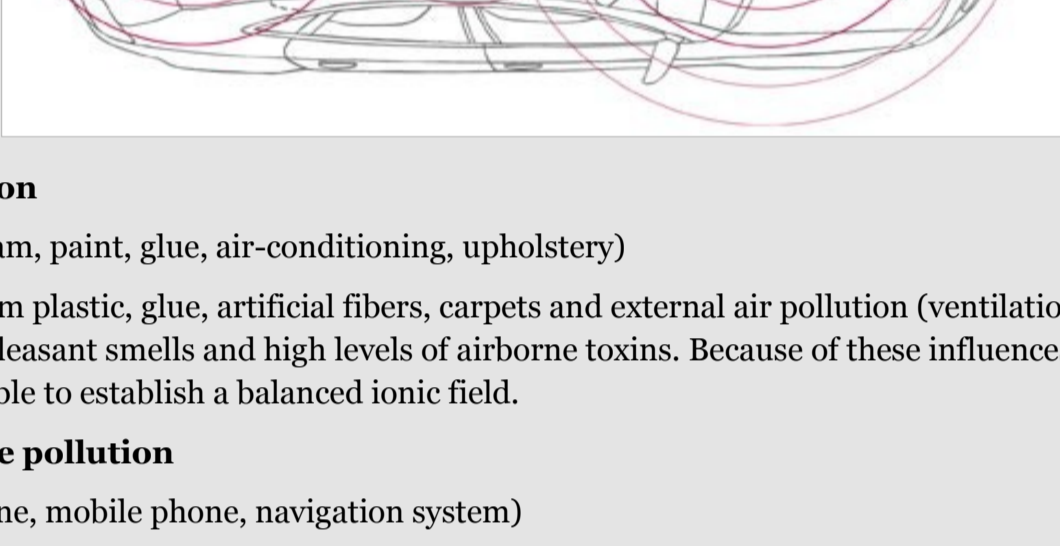

The kinds of stresses in our motor vehicles

Electricity

(dynamo, control units, adjusters, instrumentation, wiring harness, sound systems)
Electro-smog is unnatural. It is an artificial product of our technological era - a kind of waste product from modern industry.

The generation, transport and consumption of electricity in motor vehicles produces electrical and magnetic fields which are constantly emitting pathogenic (illness inducing) information into the environment. 0.1 microtesla is the average normal value in the home. 0.2 microtesla is already deemed hazardous to health. Values of up to 18 microtesla have been measured in cars (depending on the type).

The different electrical circuits and the air friction also produce electrostatic charge fields. These can be up to 20,000 V/m and have a long-term negative effect on the human body. Direct magnetic fields are also present in the car when it is not being driven (ignition coils and magnetized metal components).

Air pollution

(Plastics, foam, paint, glue, air-conditioning, upholstery)
Particles from plastic, glue, artificial fibers, carpets and external air pollution (ventilation) provide unpleasant smells and high levels of airborne toxins. Because of these influences, it is barely possible to establish a balanced ionic field.

Radio wave pollution

(car telephone, mobile phone, navigation system)
As well as the pollution mentioned above, there is the negative influence from the car telephone, mobile phone, navigation system, etc.

Among other things, this can lead to:

- Early tiredness
- Concentration problems
- Irritability
- Nervousness
- Downturn in performance
- Fear
- Stress

Enjoy the driving?!?!?

Pool

Make your swimming pool a source of pure pleasure!

Would you like to go swimming without suffering burning eyes, itchy skin, respiratory problems and unpleasant smells?

Then the Memonizer Pool from memon® is the right solution:

Your pool water is released from damaging information vibrations and the energy levels are shifted into the plus-polar range of natural sunlight. This ensures that the energy structure of the water resembles that of spring water again.

Germs and algae are robbed of the things they need to grow and the water is pleasantly vital and soft. Antibacterial agents such as chlorine can be reduced or even omitted completely. Lime scale is reduced, which protects filter systems and pipes. Swimming in the pool becomes fun again, because your eyes, skin and mucus membranes are less irritated and dry and the protective coating which is the skin remains intact for longer.

Enjoy the simple pleasure of swimming - with memon® Bionic Instruments!

Pool Info's

Make your swimming pool a source of pure pleasure!

Bathing - pure pleasure?

Who wouldn't enjoy a few lengths of the swimming pool in the morning? Going to the swimming pool with the family on a hot summer day or relaxing in the hot tub after a sauna?

Water creates harmony, well-being and relaxation - characteristics which have long been recognized and which are successfully applied in numerous water treatments. Burning eyes, inflamed mucus membranes, itchy skin and much more are the price some people have to pay. The human body reacts to the chemical supplements added to the water in increasingly high concentrations - such as chlorine (defined in the dictionary as a poisonous gas which combines with nearly all elements).

Swimming pools: Harmful swimming fun?

In public swimming baths, it is mandatory to add, for example, chlorine to the water to disinfect it. This kills germs and therefore prevents infectious diseases. During this process, the chlorine in the water reacts with sweat, hair and flakes of skin. This produces what are known as chloramines and trihalogen methanes, including chloroform.

What is chlorine gas?

Chlorine gas is a gas which is produced underwater and escapes through the surface of the water. The gas is primarily absorbed through the lungs, but also through the skin. Residues of chlorine gas can be found in the blood. High doses can lead to feeling unwell, faintness, an irritating cough and struggling for breath. It is also suspected of causing cancer.

According to a Greenpeace study, increase concentrations of chlorine were found in the blood of frequent swimmers. Therefore, trihalogen methanes represent an increased risk for frequent swimmers and pool staff.

However, there are still no statutory limits in Germany. There are plans for "Regulations on swimming and bathing pools" which will set guideline values for trihalogen methanes and chloramines. The guidelines suggest that the chloramines value should not exceed 0.2 mg chloramines per liter and the trihalogen methane value (measured in chloroform) 0.02 mg/l. In the future, swimming pools which do not meet these guidelines must be refitted or upgraded within five years.

Open-air pools will not be affected by the regulations.

Geographic interference zones

memon® makes geographic interference zones safe

Do you have problems sleeping, feel tense in the mornings or feel listless and lack energy despite getting enough sleep? Or do you have a serious illness? Findings in alternative medicines suggest it is likely that the place that you sleep is subject to geopathic interference zones (Earth radiation).

The memon® Memonizer Combi helps counteract this permanent damaging stress.

This transformer harmonizes air, internal electro-smog, external electro-smog and earth radiation at the same time. Fitting a Memonizer Combi sets the negative ions in the air flowing again, which helps the air inside the room clean itself. The electrical network is harmonized and all the damaging information present is completely deleted, so internal and external electro-smog no longer has a damaging effect. Earth rays lose their damaging information and thus their pathogenic effect.

The result: You will feel fit and well rested in the morning when you wake, you breathe good, fresh air and can concentrate and perform well. Bring your environment into natural harmony and remove environmental stress - with memon® Bionic Instruments!

We would like to explicitly point out that memon's products are not medicines or medical products in accordance with the German Medicines Ordinance or the Medical Products Act.

Scientific findings

New scientific findings prove what Paracelsus already knew:

"A sick bed is a sure-fire way of ruining your health."

The invisible danger: Earth rays, water veins, electro smog!

Negative influences on the body and mind, you can't see them but you can feel them: Earth rays, water veins, electro smog! Is it in the imagination, or scientifically proven? - An important topic, with no limits. The existence of these pathogenic vibrations has been proven sufficiently for many serious scientists and established doctors, such as Veronika Carstens.

The latest medical research proves: The basis for vitality and health in humans is a healthy environment. Therefore, the most important place in our lives is where we sleep. There is nowhere where we spend more of our time than in these two square meters. It is where we should be regenerating ourselves during the night.

Especially during sleep phases, our body reacts particularly sensitively to the different natural and technological interference fields. Numerous experiments allow us to conclude that radiation has always been a factor in serious illnesses like tumors and cancer.

The memon® bionic instruments was developed to allow as many people as possible to harmonize their homes / apartments in a simple, uncomplicated way.

Rheumatism, back pain, sleep problems, joint pain, gout, cold feet?

Albert Einstein promoted the research of Earth radiation as long ago as 1932.

Even in the past, many outstanding scientists and other highly educated public figures have been open towards the phenomenon of dowsing. For example, Prof Ferdinand Sauerbruch and Johann Wolfgang von Goethe. Albert Einstein and the Nobel Prize winner Max Planck requested a department for research into Earth radiation at the Kaiser Wilhelm Institute in Berlin as long ago as 1932. In modern times, university professors König and Betz have corroborated the existence of Earth rays in many thousands of experiments and series of tests.

The formal requests from famous doctors the likes of Dr Veronika Carstens were no doubt thanks to this government-funded research. In summary: "If it is true that all possible incidences of cancer must involve a single factor - i.e. the effect of Earth rays - then it is irresponsible not to research this phenomenon with all resources available."

"Medical science needs to have a rethink."

Sensational experiment by Freiherr von Pohl...

Back in 1929, dowser Gustav Freiherr von Pohl carried out a sensational experiment: He tested the town of Vilsbiburg / Niederbayern for Earth rays, having never been there before or knowing anybody there. These tests were "supervised by the authorities".

Von Pohl drew a plan and marked houses standing on extremely strong Earth radiation fields. A comparison by the local doctor and senior member of the medical council, Dr Bernhuber, with post-mortem findings over the previous 12 years showed that all the deaths from cancer had occurred in the marked houses. The publication of the findings led to serious discussions, especially among doctors. At the Bavarian Surgeons Conference in Munich 1931, a number of doctors felt that the results presented were so clear and irrefutable that medical science would have to have a rethink.

(Source: "Mit Pendel und Wünschelrute" [With Pendulum and Dowsing Rod] by Rudi Ph. Weilmünster)

The chairman of the German chamber of doctors, Dr Rambeau, repeated the experiment in 1933 using 3 villages near Marburg. His result was clear: All incidences of cancer overlapped with geological fragments and faults. In evaluating his results, Dr Rambeau wrote:

"During our statistical work, we were looking for a house which was on geologically sound ground but still saw incidences of cancer, but we could not find one."

(Source: Biorays by Mayer/Winkelbauer)

Freiherr von Pohl coined the term "cancer houses" in Vilsbiburg - and although the term was not used again; is the study by Dr Rambeau saying the same thing?

Do "cancer houses" really exist?

Sanitation expert Dr Hagen from Stettin also looked into the question and obtained a list of cancer deaths from 1710 to 1931 from the Statistical Office in Stettin. He assigned the deaths to the individual houses and after listing 5348 deaths, he came to the following conclusion (extracts shown):

- 51 houses with 5 cancer deaths each = 255
- 15 houses with 6 cancer deaths each = 90
- 6 houses with 7 cancer deaths each = 42
- 1 house with 8 cancer deaths = 8
- 1 house with 9 cancer deaths = 9
- 5 houses with 10 cancer deaths each = 50

These figures are food for thought. Can you sleep well in your bed knowing that in the same house, perhaps even in the very same place, several people have already died from this treacherous disease? (Source: Earth rays by Willi H. Grün)

Our daily work shows us that not all people exposed to rays die of cancer. You cannot ignore the individual defense systems of the human body; everybody reacts differently.

However, one thing can be proven: Earth rays weaken the body, individual organs or individual parts of the body and therefore provide "easy access points" for a wide range of diseases.

Heating

Heat cleanly - with the memon® Memonizer Heating!

Would you like a long service life for your heating system to reduce repair and replacement costs? You can achieve this with a Memonizer Heating from memon®.

The deletion of the existing damaging vibration information and the harmonization of the water in the heating circuit means that rust cannot form as easily and less lime scale is deposited. This protects your radiators, boiler and pipes.

As all memon® Bionic Instruments are tailored to one another, the Memonizer Heating has a supporting, stabilizing effect on air quality in conjunction with the memon® Memonizer Combi. Ensure a harmonized climate and increase the service life of your heating system - with memon® Bionic Instruments.

The memon® Memonizer Mobile

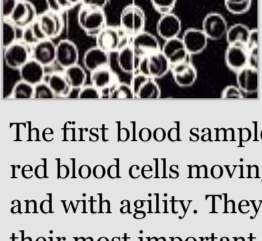

What is the difference between a mobile phone and a packet of cigarettes?

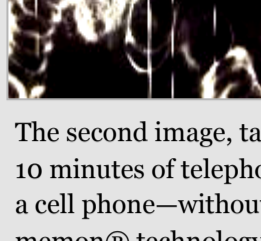

As Prof.Leif-Salford of the University of Lund in Sweden has proven, the blood-brain barrier against toxic substances in our body becomes permeable after only a few minutes of using a cellphone, leading to the destruction of nerve cells.

Cordless phones are like having your own mobile phone base station in your home: they emit a constant signal in a range around 1.8 gigahertz, with a pulse frequency of 100 Hertz. This means that they send out their pulse high-frequency radiation non-stop, even when no calls are being made.

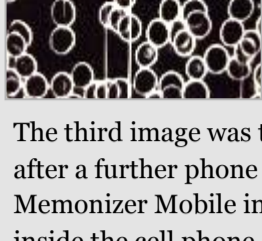

We can no longer imagine our modern communication society without mobile phones. Being mobile, available any time and any place, has its pros and cons. But there's certainly no advantage to constantly exposing from cell phones and cordless phones.

The first blood sample shows red blood cells moving freely and with agility. They can do their most important job without problem: transporting oxygen and nutrients into the cells, and harmful substances and waste away from them.

The second image, taken after 10 minutes of telephoning on a cell phone—without use of memon® technology—shows a clear change. The blood has clumped, mobility is restricted, and the blood shows to be under massive, negative influence.

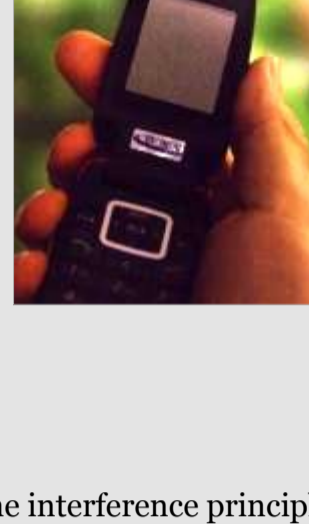

The third image was taken after a further phone call with Memonizer Mobile inserted inside the cell phone. The blood sample is completely normal again, with the blood flowing freely and without restriction.

Mobile phones don't come with a health warning!

It is even more dangerous for children and young people to be subjected to this radiation, as their central nervous system is not yet fully developed.

There is empirical medical proof to show that radiation from mobile phones plays a part in influencing and triggering the following health disorder:

- Eye irritation, clouding of the eye lenses
- Sleep disturbances, restlessness
- Learning problem, failing memory
- Difficulty concentrating
- Genetic damage (DNA strand breakage)
- Damage to cell communication
- Influence on central nervous system
- Weakened immune system
- Impaired hormonal system
- Increased risk of suffering from cancer
- Opening blood-brain barrier

Here, too the memon® Memonizer Mobile works, according to the interference principle and eliminates the negative energy effects of the radiation. The biological regulating system in the organisms remain balanced.

The memon® Memonizer Vehicle

Clutter of frequencies in motor vehicles

Headaches, tiredness, poor concentration, a queasy feeling in your stomach.....all symptoms which experts say can be caused by high electromagnetic stress in motor vehicles.

Today, several thousand meters of cable and more than a hundred electric motors are built into the average modern motor vehicle. Bursting with these electrical devices and electronic control systems, our cars have become increasingly faster, safer and more comfortable.

The other side of the coin is that when driving, we are exposed to extremely high electrostatic tension, the intensity of which is often made even more intense by our car acting as a closed faraday cage.

To this is added the exhaust gases from other motor vehicles, fumes from plastic cladding, padding and adhesives, making driving a car into a risky situation for the driver.

Other electrostatic fields also arise because of the various electric circuits and air friction.

The strength of an electromagnetic field is measured in microtesla.

The standard average value in homes is regarded as 0.1 microtesla; 0.2 microtesla are already considered a health risk. In cars (depending on the type), peak values have been measured of up to 18 microtesla!

In combination with stuffy air from exhaust gases and fumes, drivers can develop symptoms we all know:

- Early fatigue
- Poor concentration
- Irritability
- Restlessness
- Drop in performance
- Anxiety
- Susceptibility to stress

By using the memon® Memonizer CAR, the harmful information from the electromagnetic and static fields is neutralised. The memon® Bionic Instruments also protects against disruptive influences from outside and reduces electrostatic propensity to a minimum.

In February, March and April 2007, supported by scientists, memon® carried out a series of tests with lorry drivers in collaboration with the Germany Mining, Chemical and Energy Industrial Union (IGBCE). The final assessment showed, among other things, that both the objective measurements and the subjective survey of test subjects revealed a considerable reduction in sensitivity and stress on the organism as a result of using memon® bionic instruments.

According to the concluding sentence, the study proves that using memon® bionic instruments significantly reduces the harmful effects of electro-smog and thus stress on the organism.

MEMON® BIONIC INSTRUMENTS.....RENATURE YOUR LIFE

The memon® Memonizer Water

Elixir of life or cocktail of harmful sub-stances?

We all learned it in school : water = H₂O. On closer observation, however, water is one of the most fascinating elements on Earth, our most valuable commodity and our most important foodstuff.

Among other things, healthy, natural spring water enables an organism's cell groups to intercommunicate. It also helps:

- Transport nutrients
- Eliminate metabolic by-products
- Maintain the cells'osmotic pressure
- Regulate the body's temperature balace

Water has the power to keep our body healthy. It regulates all our bodily functions, from our metabolism to thought. However, water is much more than just a transport medium for oxygen or mineral products; above all, it is a medium for storing information. The information contained in water can, for example, make water healthy—not just any mineral or others substences it contains.

The information in our water is constantly altered by environmental influences. This makes the question of what information there is in the water we drink every day, and what it passes on to us, all the more important.

Our tap water generally consists of about two thirds ground water and one third surface water, from lakes, dams and riverbank filtration. It needs treatment before it is drinkable. After treatment, tap water may still contain around fifty chemical additives such as chlorine, chlorine dioxide and hydrochloric or sulphuric acid, within certain limits. The same applies to mineral water, although the ordinance for that is even less strict than for the tap water. The waterworks test the quality of the water regularly in accordance with the drinking water ordinance. What is not taken into account is the information the water contains.

On its way into our homes, the water comes into contact with all kinds of different harmful substances. Pesticides, fungicides, recidues from medicines, beta bloklers, hormonal derivatives (e.g. the pill) to name a few. Even if the water is cleaned in a sewage works, it still contains the “energy signature” of these harmful influences, which we absorb constantly without noticing.

This “energy signature” contains a cocktail of harmful information on which the water has stored at certain frequency levels and passes into our organism.

The memon® Bionic Instruments is capable of eliminating this harmful information. In terms of energy, this produces a kind of “empty water” which can once more play its proper role in our bodily balance.

Investigations show that the crystalline structure of memon® Memonizer Water is comparable with that of natural spring water.

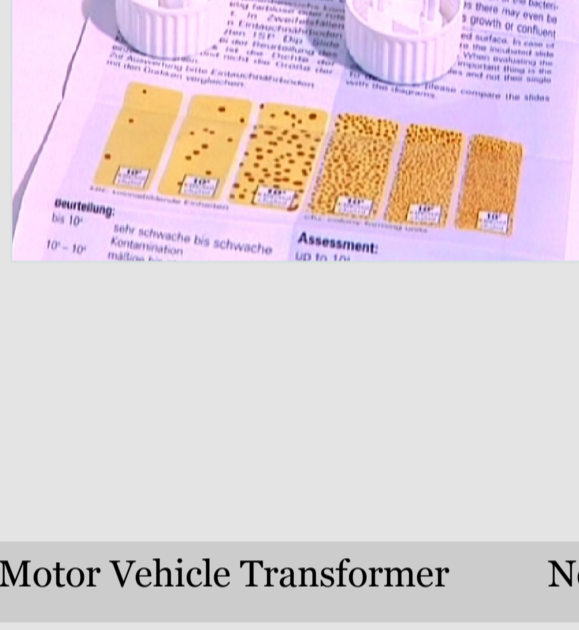

As well as this important health-related aspect, there are, however, some other changes:

- Noticeably softer water, which tastes delicious and velvety, comes from the taps
- The smell of chlorine is reduced in swimming pools
- Using the water, up to 40% can sometimes be saved on washing and cleaning agents
- Lime scale deposits are clearly reduced
- Plants flourish better

Dr. Michael Steinhöfel tested the regular tap water that was treated with and without memon® Memonizer Water

Regular tap Water sample treated with memon® Water transformer shows no bacteria

Regular tap water sample without memon® Water Transformer shows bacteria

The memon® Memonizer Combi

People who have felt the positive effects of the memon® Bionic Instruments in person usually not only will they want to improve their water or air, but also to harmonizes their entire living space. As different areas interconnect and are interdependent, we have developed the Memonizer Combi.

The Memonizer Combi uses the electricity cables branching through your whole home as information media and thus harmonizes all areas that can be affected via the cables.

This means:

- Protection against electro smog throughout your home. You are protected against unhealthy radiation, whether from lamps, wiring, the television, the computer, household devices or electric heaters.
- Protection against unhealthy radiation from mobile phone antennas, high-voltage cables and railway power lines-in short, anything coming from outside.
- Improvement in the air by restoring the natural ratio of minus and plus ions.
- Transporting harmful substances and particles down to the ground: reducing germs.
- Protection against unhealthy earth radiation.

With its wide-ranging protection against negative environmental influences and its simple installation, with no need for complicated, expensive changes to the building fabric, the memon® Memonizer Combi is the ideal device to harmonies your environment.

This applies not only for detached or semi-detached houses, but also for flats, office blocks, business premises, factories, hospitals, care centers, hotels, restaurants and cafes-for all indoor areas people spend time in. The right size to suit every use.

MEMON® BIONIC INSTRUMENTS.....RENATURE YOUR LIFE

The memon® Memonizer Pool

The memon® Memonizer Pool makes a splash in the pool into.....a pleasure you won't regret.

What can be better than impulsively jumping into cool, revitalizing water on a hot summer's day, refreshing your self in a Jacuzzi after a sauna, or doing a couple of lanes in the swimming pool after a stressful day at work?

Water gives us harmony, wellbeing and relaxation. But watch out: some of us have already regretted that refreshing jump. Chemical substances and toxins such as chlorine in swimming pool water often result in undesired side-effects such as sore eyes or infected mucous membranes.

With the memon® Memonizer Pool, you can avoid these disturbances and have fun in the pool with no regrets.

By using the memon® Bionic Instruments, swimming pool water, just like tap water, is cleansed of harmful information waves. The energy structure of the water is returned to that of natural spring water, removing the basis for the development of germs and algae to a great extent.

This means that disinfectants and chemical additives normally required, such as chlorine, can be reduced, and in some circumstances even left out altogether.

The Unpleasant smell of chlorine in the swimming pool disappears.
Lime scale deposits are reduced; filter units and pipes are protected.

The water is pleasantly vitalizing and soft. Swimming is fun again.

The head chairperson of the Interessengemeinschaft Sommerbad Stadensen e.V community group told us: Since we took over the swimming pool from the municipal authorities in 2002, we have been able to achieve considerable improvements in our pool thanks to using the memon® Memonizer system for the first time in summer 2002. We have been able to make savings in chlorine, ph value reducers and other chemicals.

All regular analyses carried out by the Uelzen health department, along with Suderberg University, have come up with excellent results all around. Thanks to this noticeable improvement in the water quality, we have achieved a rise in the number of visitors, which grew even further in summer 2003 after a media announcement. All in all, we have managed a rise in turnover of about 40% thanks to these positive circumstances.

The benefits of the memon® Memonizer Pool at a glance:

- Reduction and/or elimination of allergic skin reactions
- Reduction in eye soreness and itchiness
- Reduction in dry skin
- More pleasant, softer water
- Balancing effect on the ph value
- Reduction of and (in some circumstances) elimination of the need for antibacterial chemicals
- Less pathological bacterial deposits
- Considerable reduction in cleaning agents

The memon® Memonizer Heating

Next winter will come without fail.....
.....so will the next rise in heating costs.

Over the last few years, prices for fossil fuels such as heating oil have shot up; natural gas prices have followed them. Even alternative fuels such as pellets or wood chips have jumped aboard the same bandwagon. In view of limited resources and the overall world market situation, this is also unlikely to change any time soon.

It is all the more annoying when, on top of a hefty heating bill, you suddenly also need a new heating unit.

This is another situation where the memon® Bionic Instruments can help. In this case, it is not just about your own health, but also about the health of your heating unit or your wallet.

By using the memon® Bionic Instruments, you can protect the heater, boiler and pipes of your heating unit, considerably extending intervals between repairs. Your wallet will thank you for it.

Lime scale deposits in pipes

With memon® you protect against limes scale

Lime scale forms on shower walls and tiles and plugs up shower heads and drain sieves. It is annoying, but you can remove it in those places.

However, lime scale does the most damage in precisely the places you can't see it: in the pipes.

Lime scale is deposited in the pipes and heat ex-changers, especially when heating water. Layer by layer. Slowly but surely. In the worst cases, water pipes can even be totally blocked up with lime scale deposits over the years.

The memon® Memonizer heating eliminates existing harmful wave information and harmonizes the water so that rust cannot develop as easily and less lime scale forms. The memon® Memonizer Heating also has a supportive, stabilizing effect on air quality. The memon® Memonizer Heating has the following effects :

- Protects your heating unit
- Functions without chemical additives
- Lower running costs
- Helps prevent expensive repairs
- Support and stabilizes air quality in rooms with heaters

The memon® Memonizer Workstation

Attention: Memonizer Workstation that market in the U.S & Canada does not come with power strip (sockets). Picture shown only for European Market. You may choose your own power strip that MUST have the switch ON/OFF.

Ever since I've had memon® in my office, I've felt just great at work.....most of my colleagues are now using it too.

If it is not possible to fit the Memonizer Combi in the whole office, it is possible to install separate workplaces with the Memonizer Workstation (SoloPlus).

The Memonizer Workstation is the answer for everyone who uses the memon® Bionic Instruments at home and would like to benefit from the Memonizer Workstation at the work place as well. Not every employer realizes the benefit that his employees may experience with better concentration, more harmonically and thus also more effectively under the influence of memon® Bionic Instruments.

The Memonizer Workstation looks like a normal socket strip with five sockets (Sockets/power strip is not available for U.S & Canada. It comes with only the base). You simply plug in your machines, electric devices etc. and it will harmonize your workplace once the switch is turned on.

The Memonizer Workstation combines the electro smog and air ionization transformer in one device, as with Memonizer Combi. This produces optimum effectiveness as a whole.

Simply plug it in and switch it on!

The Memonizer Workstation at your workplace:

- Improving the air by restoring the natural ratio of minus and plus ions.
- Pilling particulate matter and harmful substances down to the ground.
- Reducing germs in the air.
- Eliminating harmful earth radiation.
- Neutralizing harmful earth radiation
- Neutralizing radio waves.

Pool Water Analysis

Hygienic Pool Water Analysis in Stadensen Open Air Pool

Martin Evers

*1955, married, one daughter, specialist training in the fields of rayo-technology, holistic radio-aesthetics, geology, biology and cosmotronic to become a rayotronics engineer; 1993 foundation of an institute for energy analysis "INFAN"; plus non-professional work in the fields of geo-biological property, living space, bedroom and workplace examinations, research, nutritional advice, sensor seminars and presentations, first experiences with Winfried M Dochow's transformer system in 1995; trained as kdR building consultant, various research projects using the memon transformer system: e.g. Stadensen Summer Pool (chlorine reduced since 2002; Gusborn Primary School (interference-free learning environment) since 2003; biocide reduction in LIVOS paints since 2005; concrete experiment at the University of Lüneburg/Suderburg in 2005, continued in 2006; plant growth and ground improvement for growing agricultural products in 2005/2006 in conjunction with farmers and the University of Lüneburg/Suderburg

The aim

The aim was to use the memon® memonizer to reduce the use of chlorine and thus the related negative side-effects, such as skin irritation and allergies. Naturally, the relevant standards and guidelines for water quality were also to be upheld.

The test

As part of a pilot project, the Health Department in Uelzen took several water samples from the Stadensen open air pool. Prior to this, the use of chlorine had been reduced and a memon® memonizer fitted. The water tested was taken from the play area, swimmers' entrance and the slide.

The result

Despite the reduction in the use of chlorine, the water in all cases met the requirements of DIN 19643, (This standard guarantees the maintenance of hygiene, aesthetics and safety of pool waters in swimming and bathing pools in order to prevent the spread of infectious diseases through germs. The water is examined for a number of germs, including escherichia coli (intestinal bacteria), pseudomonas aeriginos (waterborne germ which can cause illnesses such as outer ear infections, skin infections and lung infections in the immuno-suppressed) and CFU (colony-forming units). In principle, there should be no pseudomonas aeruginosa or escherichia colia in 100 ml of pool water.)

In fact, the requirements were surpassed and the results with memon and less chlorine were better than without memon and with more chlorine.

This was also confirmed by measurements by the Suderberg Technical College (now the University of Lüneberg). The maximum value for total coli-bacteria measured is 1500, the value in Stadensen was 0.

The benefits of using memon® were so clear that even visitors to the pool who knew nothing about the experiment were constantly praising the quality of the pool water. In the years since, a large number of measurements have been taken, which have time and again proved the good quality of the pool water.

Benefits:

- Soft, pleasant water quality
- No incidence of allergies
- No problems with chlorine and chlorine gas
- Environmentally friendly water preparation
- No irritation to the respiration system, the skin and the eyes
- Economic benefits for the pool operator

Pool water measurement results

Results from the University of Lüneberg, formerly the Technical College of North-East Lower Saxony (Fachhochschule Nordostniedersachsen)

For each size, the maximum particle number is 1500. This limit was not reached in any year, even in 2002, when pumps broke on two of the measurement days.

Biophoton Analysis
Electroluminescence of water

Prof. Fritz Albert Popp

Studied physics, degree in experimental physics, Röntgen Prize from the Physics Department of the University of Würzburg, Doctorate in Theoretical Physics, qualification as lecturer in biophysics, lecturer, appointed Professor by the senate of the University of Marburg.

He is considered to have discovered "biophotons". In 1976, in conjunction with Bernhard Ruth, discovered weak light emissions from biological systems and proved that this radiation is emitted by all living organisms.

Refinement of biophoton analysis, such that it could be used for quality measurements in the food industry.

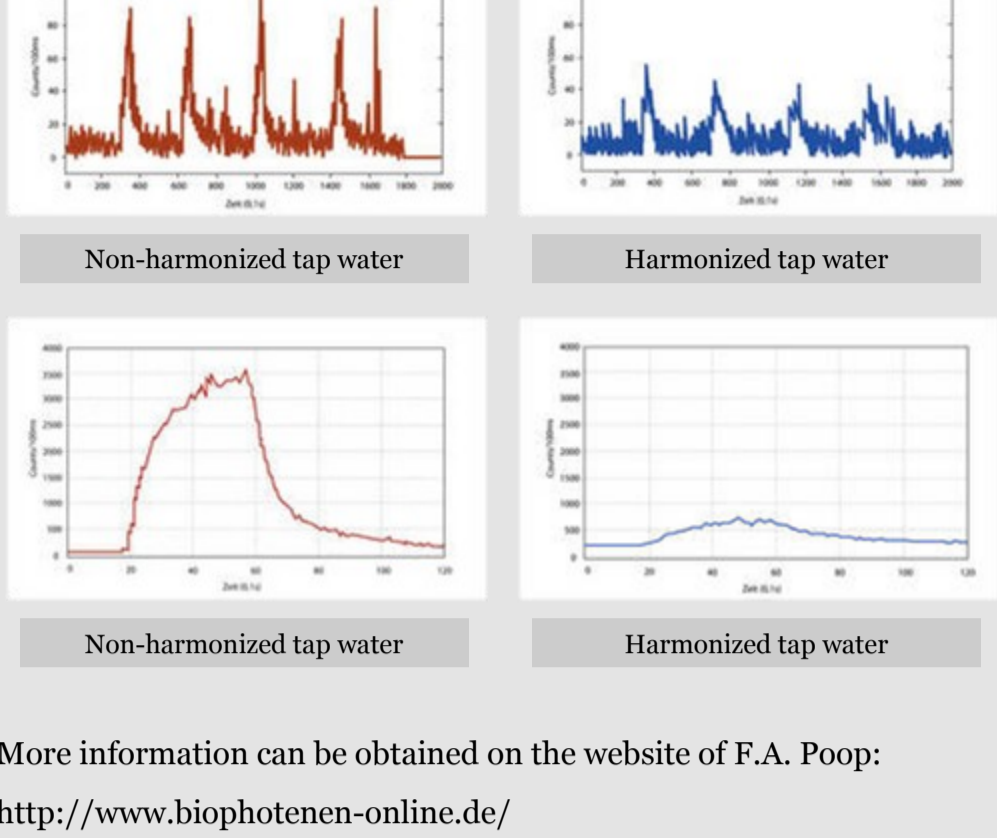

The aim

The biophoton analysis method was used to assess the quality of water. This process is also used in testing food and utilizes the capability of living cells to emit light particles (photons). The higher the vitality and internal order of the material tested, the higher the number of biophotons emitted.

The test

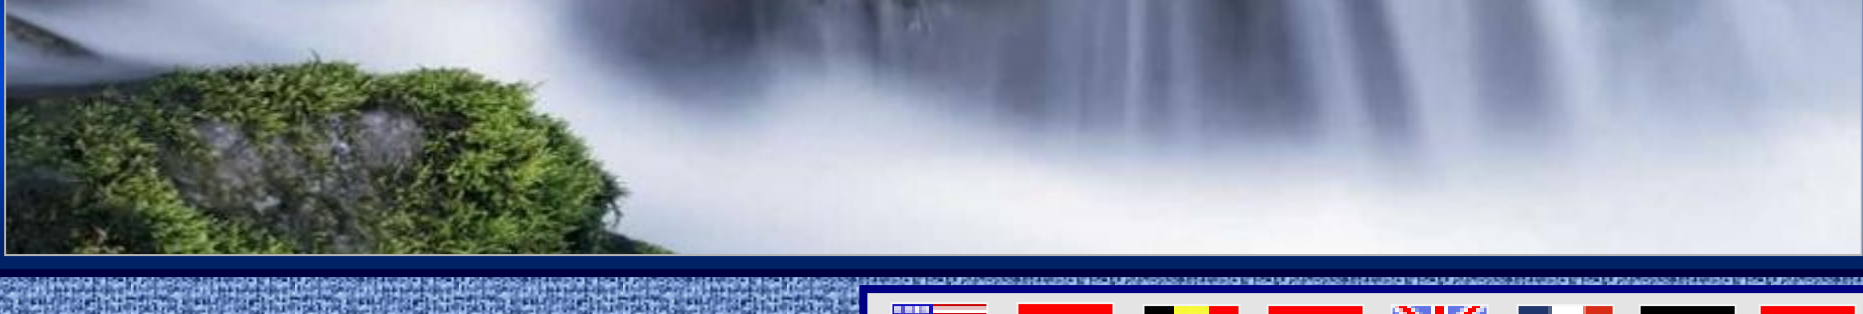

We took two water samples from the same tap. Sample 1 was normal tap water, before taking sample 2 we fitted the water pipe with a water transformer, as developed by Winfried M Dochow. Both samples were subjected to biophoton analysis in order to measure the residual toxin levels. The test was ordered by Mr. Moll and Mr. Dochow and carried out on 18/08/2005.

The result

Dark Field Blood Analysis

Dark Field Blood Analysis for a Mobile Phone with the Memonizer Mobile

Dark field blood analysis to determine the protective effect of the memon® memonizer mobile before and after a 15 minute usage of a mobile phone.

Seldom we do come across anyone who doesn't use a mobile phone these days. People often note their sense of the harmful effects of these devices in many different ways. They emit and use electromagnetic radiation well outside the natural color range, in particular the 'microwave zone' of the natural light spectrum. Cordless phones are very similar to cell phones.

People who might be considered most at risk are of course children and young people as their nervous systems have yet to fully develop.

There is empirical medical proof to show that the emissions from mobile phones play a part in influencing and triggering the following health disorders:

- Eye irritation, clouding of the eye lenses
- Sleep disturbances, restlessness
- Learning difficulties, failing memory
- Difficulty concentrating
- Genetic damage (DNA strand breakage)
- Damage to cell communication
- Influence on central nervous system
- Weakened immune system
- Impaired hormonal system
- Opening the blood brain barrier
- Increased risk of suffering from cancer

The brain contains billions of them, and the brain of a child is still in the important process of fully developing. In fact because of the soft tissue of children's brains, radiations from cell phone permeate very deeply, whereas for an adult, whose brain is fully formed, the emissions penetration is much smaller.

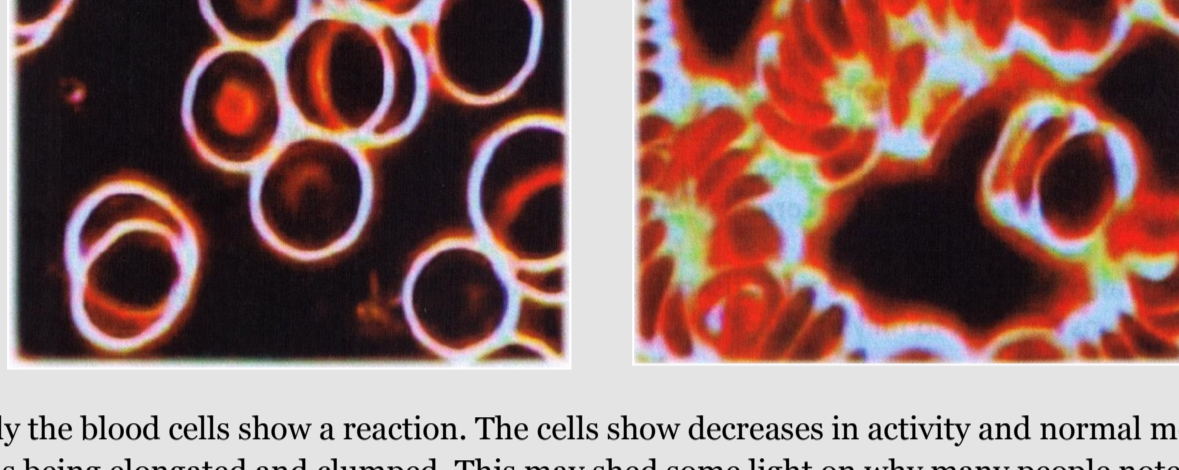

The last of these health conditions 'opening of the blood brain barrier' is very important. The brain has a natural type of blood barrier that in effect allows it to protect itself from absorbing and building up heavy metals and other such toxins that might be in the blood. Common heavy metals can include lead, mercury (from fillings), cadmium, aluminum etc.... If it is weakened the brains ability to keep these pollutions from being soaked up by the brain tissue can be diminished.

Prof. Leif-Salford of the University of Lund in Sweden has proven that the blood-brain barrier against toxic substances in our body becomes permeable after only a few minutes of mobile phone use.

The Results

In independent tests, the specific effects on blood cells have been carried out on behalf of memon® using dark field microscopy analysis by Ekkehard Scheller of the Neubeuern Health Centre.

Following are clear pictures of a person's natural blood cell image (left), and the same person's blood cells after using a mobile phone for fifteen minutes (right).

Clearly the results show a reaction. The cells show decreases in activity and normal motion as well as being elongated and clumped. This may shed some light on why many people note headaches, tiredness and other symptoms from prolonged use. The last image (below) shows the same person under the same conditions of mobile phone use, except this time using a memon® harmonizing device on the back of the phone.

Clearly, the results are profound. This slide shows that the blood cell activity and health is apparently undisturbed by the presence of the mobile phone's emissions. In fact, compared to the first slide, it appears that the blood cells show better results than the before the test began. The most notable reason for this is that the memon® Memonizer Mobile is also harmonizing the effects of electromagnetic emissions from the outside environments as well as from the phone itself.

Dark field blood analysis on person driving a hybrid car, with and without the use of the memon® memonizer CAR installed.

The aim

A specialist microscope was used to measure blood quality. As a control, the blood was examined before and after driving a hybrid car and after driving the same hybrid car when using the memon® memonizer vehicle on the battery. The microscopic results were assessed visually.

The test

This integrated blood analysis gives experienced therapists information about individual organs and organ systems, as well as about dysbioses, acid/alkali shifts, protein surplus, lactate surplus, trace element deficits, mineral deficits and problems caused by environmental toxins, etc. This is made possible thanks to the 1500x enlargement of transparent structures and micro-organisms in the blood.

The result

Graphical display of the microscopic results

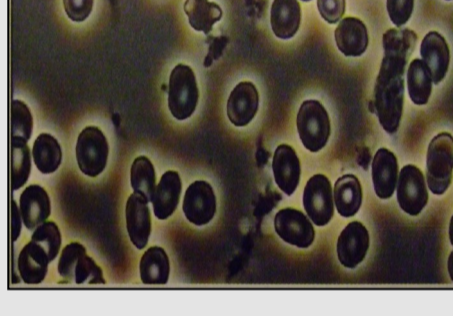

Image of the blood of a subject before driving

Image of the blood of a subject after 30 minutes of driving a hybrid car:
Blood platelets stuck together. Presence of lots of Poikilocytes that express presence of free radical damage.

Image of the blood of a subject after another 30 minutes of driving the same hybrid car using The memon® Memonizer Vehicle on the car battery.
The blood values showed even an improvement compared to before driving, as it had a therapeutic effect on the person.

Hagalís crystal analysis

We have sent the memon® memonizer to Hagalís AG with the request to conduct measurements according to the method developed by Hagalís.

What is a crystal Analysis?

The Hagalís Crystal Analysis is anew method which can test all substances like e.g. water or blood without the addition of any chemical substances or solvents. That way external influence on the samples is excluded.

By crystallization liquid crystals are extracted from the samples providing a statement on structure and quality of the tested content.

The process

1. Distillation of the sample without addition of water or other solvents at low temperatures.
2. Extraction of crystal salt from the distillate residue by ashing and calcinations.
3. Amalgamation of distillate and crystal salts followed by application on the microscope slide.
4. Development of crystal picture.

The Crystal Pictures

As each crystal is unique, factors like form, structure of the edge, dark fields, thickness etc. are included in the evaluation of the crystal pictures. A star-shaped or hexagonal structure is a sign for the best possible water quality.

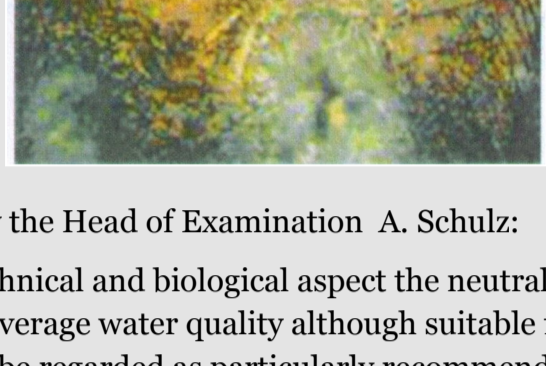

End users can recognize the quality level of substances easily through the simple depiction of crystal structures.

The crystal pictures of a sample are reproducible anytime.

Hagalís AG provided us with the following statements and results.

Statements and evaluation of the executive Director A. Schulz read in excerpts:

Neutral sample city water Überlingen

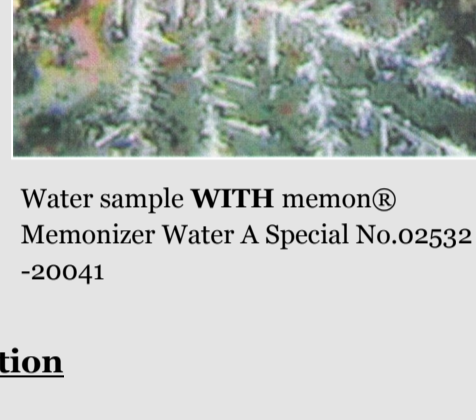

Evaluation by the Head of Examination A. Schulz:

".. In both technical and biological aspect the neutral sample has to be seen as normal tap water quality. The average water quality although suitable for daily drinking water purposes can, however, not be regarded as particularly recommendable.

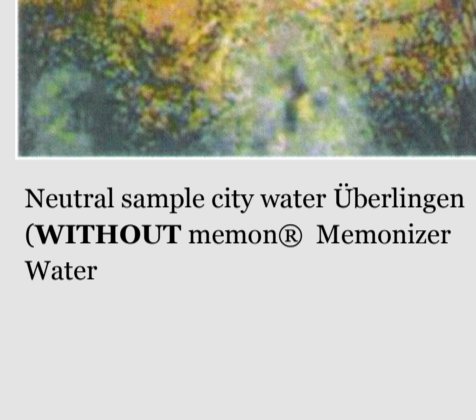

At best it reaches a satisfying technical quality level with slightly increased calcifying risk. In biological regard the pollutant information shows flaws in the water sample which are not very desirable for high quality drinking water. In total too few 600 angle structures appear as found in higher numbers in high quality spring water. A convergence to that which is taken from Lake Constance and builds the basis for the city water supply of Oberlingen could not be reached by far. The here tested samples show an average drinking quality which is not particularly recommendable to the user..."

Picture comparison with the neutral sample

Water sample WITH memon® Memonizer Water A Special No.02532 -20041

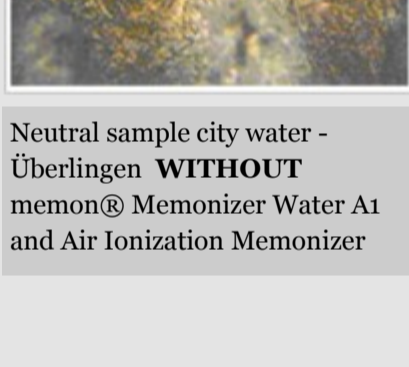

Neutral sample city water Überlingen (WITHOUT memon® Memonizer Water

Evaluation

".. On the large scale the positive energy balance is shown once more through the largely extended crystal structures which are close to the 60° angle. Obviously the treatment with the water treatment device could provide a restoring of the water's nature which refers also to the restoration of important natural properties of the water. Thus the detoxification effect which all natural water without pollutant information has could be extensively restored. At the same time the new structuring of the cluster structures in the water has caused an improvement of the self purification mechanism in the water sample so that the water can easier handle the break down of substance soluble in water hereafter. That way e.g. surfactants soluble in water are better processed and degraded in later breakdown as in the natural sample. The self purification effect is herewith clearly increased. At the same time the technical water quality to be seen here in the 400-fold enlargement could be clearly improved by increased surface building. The minerals tend less to precipitation and thus a clear convergence to the originally good water quality of the basic water from Lake Constance drilled in a depth of 60 meters in spring water quality was reached..."

Sample: memon® Umwelttechnologie GmbH, Water Sample: Water Transformer A1 and E-Smog

Picture comparison with the neutral sample

Neutral sample city water - Überlingen WITHOUT memon® Memonizer Water A1 and Air Ionization Memonizer

Water sample WITH memon® Memonizer Water A1 and Air Ionization Memonizer

Evaluation

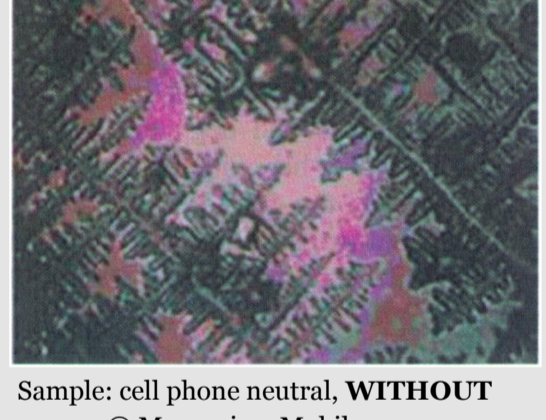

".. In comparison the combination of Memonizer Water A1 plus E-Smog device showed a clear quality improvement versus the neutral sample which is even some points higher than the device Memonizer Water A1 without combination. The water has been clearly re-valued biologically and the bio-availability of minerals is better than with most other samples. The cluster structures in the water have been newly ordered and possess considerably less pollutant information as seen in the neutral sample or with the device without combination. The sample is among the best samples in the test and shows the highest energy balance. The restoration to the water's nature in biological aspect could be identified clearly..."

Sample: memon® Umwelttechnologie GmbH, Water Sample: Cell Phone and Cell Phone Transformer 3 Days:

Picture comparison with the neutral sample

Sample: cell phone WITH memon® Memonizer Mobile 3 Days

Sample: cell phone neutral, WITHOUT memon® Memonizer Mobile

Evaluation by the Head of Examination A. Schulz:

".. In both technical and biological aspect a clear quality improvement with significant effects has been revealed which speaks clearly and positively for the use of the Memonizer Mobile being memon® . In contrary to the tests with a shorter exposure time of the Memonizer Mobile on the cell phone a slightly positive difference is shown in favor of the sample with the longer exposure time of a total of three days. This means that the Memonizer Mobile should be installed in the cell phone for three days in order to arrive at the full effectiveness. Here very good results are shown then which are identified as a strong absorbing effect of the harmful mobile communications radiation. The best possible effectiveness of the device thus arrives at this level after a longer exposure time.

The effectiveness of the device could be clearly identified in this test..."

Crystal Photography

Dr. Masaru Emoto proves the existence of an invisible world

The aim

The process of crystal photography developed by Masaru Emoto allows us to prove the formation of water crystals and therefore the high quality of memon® Memonizer Water.

The test

Crystals in Munich tap water were photographed by Masaru Emoto before and after harmonizing with memon®. The shape of the frozen crystals allows conclusions to be drawn about the quality of the water.

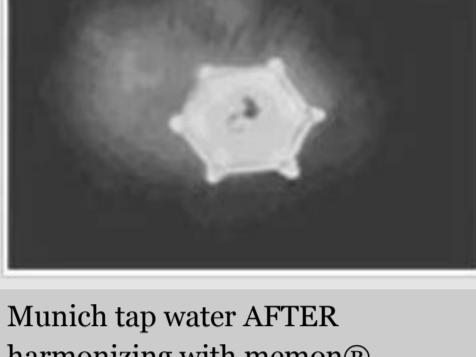

This is based on the capability of water to store water, information, music, words, feelings and consciousness, which has been researched by Emoto over many years. The water crystals demonstrate different shapes as a function of the status and quality of the water.

Water in cities generally has a matt, irregular structure. Water crystals from living sources, e.g. spring water, often demonstrate a wide variety of formations, from simple squares and hexagons to delicate, shimmering crystals or hexagons (tortoise-shell) which indicate stability and vitality.

The result

Munich tap water BEFORE harmonizing with memon®

Munich tap water AFTER harmonizing with memon®

The crystal image of the memon®-harmonized tap water demonstrate a "tortoise-shell shape". Masaru Emoto commented as follows:

" ... after we had taken several shots, we could confirm that water crystals with good immunity always have a solid tortoise shape ..."
(Extract from the book "Die Botschaft des Wassers, Bd 1" [The Message of Water, Vol. 1] by Masaru Emoto)

" , To date, we have the most crystal photographs of water where vibrations which strengthen the immune system have been transferred and - as you can see - we can say with certainty that the water with more immunity displays a tortoise-shell pattern. This is because we have also been able to establish the same basic tortoise-shell pattern in good water, samples sent in to us by others. The saying that "the crane lives to one hundred years old, the tortoise to ten thousand," is confirmed here for me without any doubt.

Air Particle Measurement

The aim

A testing device is used to measure the particulate pollution in an office with and without memon® memonizer and then compare the results.

The test

The energy lab carried out measurements of the smallest particle sizes in the air on various different days. The measurement device used was from MetOne, which is also used in operating theatres and in research and development to monitor particle numbers (clean room measurement).

Measuring period: 18th to 21st April 2005
 Location: Office of the owner of a furniture company in Rosenheim
 Room size: 25 m2, room height 3 m.
 Room temperature: 20 °C
 Room humidity: 45 %

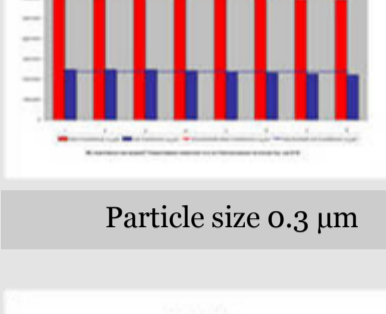

In order to avoid external influences, the windows and entrance door were left closed during the measurements. On 18th and 19th April 2005, measurements were taken without using memon® Memonizer. The memon® Memonizer Combi was fitted on 20th April 2005 at 7am.

The weather conditions were as follows: on 18th/19th/20th April 2005, it was rainy and on 21st April 2005 it was cloudy.
 Measurements were taken for particle sizes 0.3/0.5/1.0/3.0/5.0/10.0 at a flow rate of 1l/m3.

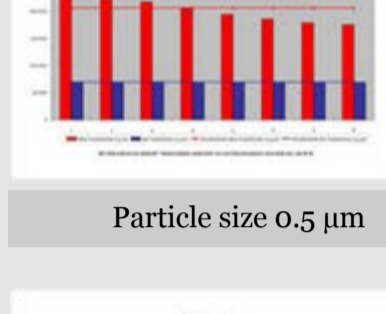

The measurements were taken at a height of 0.80 m. The measurement was set for 5 minutes, with a waiting time of 25 minutes.

The result

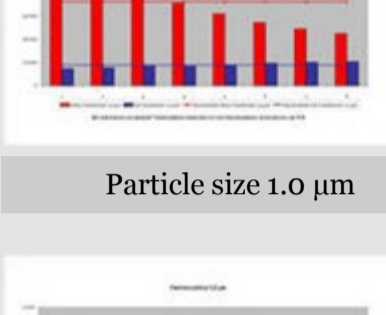

- without memonizer
- with Memonizer

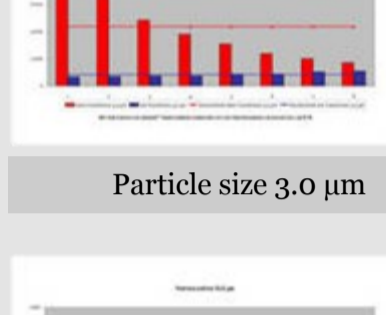

Particle size 0.3 µm

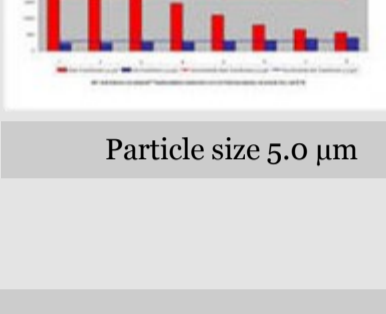

Particle size 0.5 µm

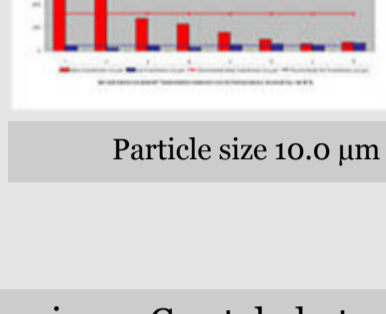

Particle size 1.0 µm

Particle size 3.0 µm

Particle size 5.0 µm

Particle size 10.0 µm

In the energy lab, bio-energetic devices are used to carry out tests in the particulate range. The highly sensitive modern devices print out the results in the form of frequencies. By using different test techniques, we can give you information on whether there are damaging frequencies affecting you or the everyday objects you use everyday, such as cosmetics or food supplements, and what these damaging frequencies are.

POLARITY, RESONANCES & VIBRATIONS

Physical-Medical Resonance Measurement (PMR)

The aim

To prove the effect of the memon® memonizer at various damaging frequencies by testing memon® Memonizer Water compared to normal tap water.

The test

The Institute for Energy Field Measurement, Frequency Testing and Analysis (INEFA) used a computer-controlled frequency measuring device to test the presence of pathogenic regulation interference, such as e-smog, water veins, earth rays, cell nucleus membrane, DDT, mercury, copper and other disruptive interference in water.

By configuring the pathogenic frequencies on the measuring device, the tensor shows a resonance or no resonance for the product being measured. If it shows resonance, this indicates the presence of a pathogenic vibration. If, for example, the frequency is set to 99.5 (e-smog) and the product goes into resonance, this means that e-smog information is present.

The results

Tap water with memon® Memonizer; polarization plane: right-polar, frequency pattern in accordance with light spectrum: around 770 nm; Date: 23.08.2004

The result "nicht nachweisbar" means that there was no resonance for the relevant interference, i.e. that the device used, in this case the memon® memonizer, works.

This method provides information about the pathogenic information (e.g. electro-smog, amalgams, lead, DDT, additives) contained in water, cosmetics or food additives.

If you are exposed to it for extended periods, this damaging information can cause functional problems in your body.

The vibration frequencies of damaging information is stored on globuli by means of information transfer. (Globuli are small white spheres which are used in homeopathy as carriers for the remedies.) The globuli are connected to the resonance device with a container.

The procedure is exactly the same for your product sample. If the object to be tested is emitting the same frequency pattern as the globuli, the product is polluted with the damaging information.

The reaction generated, also called resonance because there is a match, is indicated on a tensor.

Biofeedback Measurement

Biofeedback measurement using the Scio measuring device.

The aim

The world's leading biofeedback instrument is used to measure the reactions of various people to tap water and to the same tap water harmonized with memon®.

The test

The SCIO measuring device was measured by Prof. William Nelson (multiple Nobel Prize nominee). It provides information on the energy exchange or on stress reduction in organisms. It collects thousands of pieces of bio-energy data from the tested organism using measurement electrodes within a short space of time. This data is analyzed, sorted and listed. This gives the user the up-to-date status on the overall energy situation of the sample.

The following factors can be assessed:

- Vitamin situation
- Amino acids
- Foodstuffs
- Trace elements
- Minerals
- Enzymes

Water Maturation Method

The aim

By making the structure of a drop of water in a liquid state visible, it is posited that conclusions can be drawn on the quality of the water. Comparisons are made between spring water, various kinds of tap water and memon®-informed water.

The test

For water, maturation is deemed as any energisation or information influence, including poor information content. Electro-smog is therefore a "maturation" of water in the negative sense. Only structures which are found naturally are described as "positive".

These could be, for example, structures similar to leaves or flowers.

What is important is the "natural" status of the drop examined, i.e. it is circular with a curvature in the middle. This is achieved by treating it with a "starter medium". The stronger light refraction in this test design allows the resulting color image to be photographed using a special microscope and lens.

This allows a Scale to be drawn up, with normal tap water in a poor energy condition at one end and spring water demonstrating a high level of positive maturation at the other. The better the water quality, the more structures resembling the cells of living organisms are seen in the water.

Here you can see an example:

Copper chloride crystallization

Evidence of how different water harmonized using memon® is, comparison with Munich tap water using copper chloride crystallization

The objective

The method applied here was used to prove organic credentials for fruit and vegetable farming at the Research Institute of the Goetheanum of the Anthroposophical Society in Dornach (Switzerland).

The resulting crystals, which are grown under defined conditions, are read and interpreted and provide significant information as to whether an agricultural product is genuinely organic or a fake. This method has been applied since around the year 2001 and is scientifically proven. However, determining water quality in this way is, thus far, unique.

The test

On 1st September 2005, ten polystyrene Petri dishes each were filled with normal Munich tap water and memon®-harmonized tap water under the same conditions.

Copper chloride solution was then added and they were put into the crystallization machine. After 48 hours of crystallization time, the dishes were completely crystallized and removed from the machine for visual comparison.

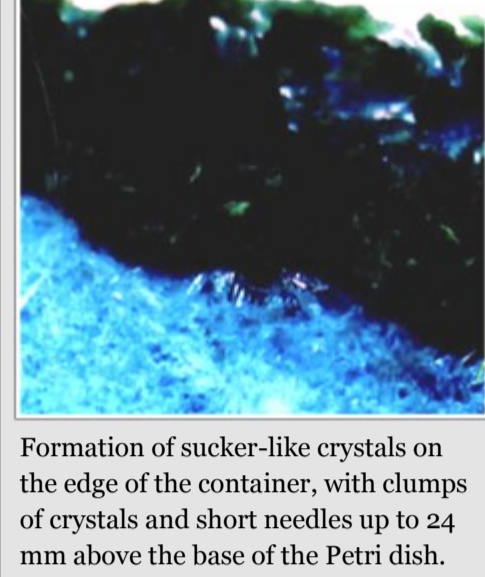

The following observations were made:

The memon® harmonized water began to crystallize 12 hours later than the tap water.

- During the crystallization with the saturated solution (24.00 g copper (II) chloride and 25.00 g water to be tested), it became clear that memon® harmonized water makes the copper chloride form distinct crystalline blooms on the edge of the container.
- The Petri dishes with the normal Munich tap water demonstrated no distinct crystal needles of this kind.

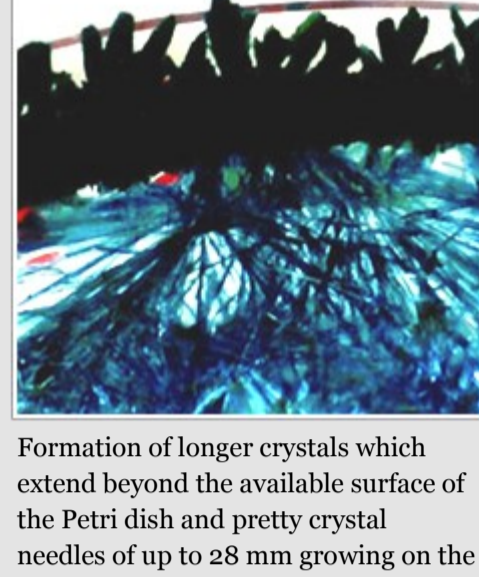

The result

"Normal" Munich tap water

Formation of sucker-like crystals on the edge of the container, with clumps of crystals and short needles up to 24 mm above the base of the Petri dish.

Munich tap water, memon®-harmonized

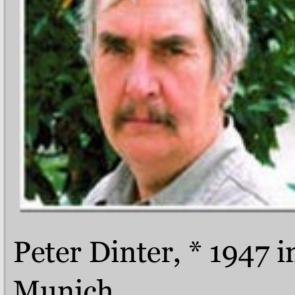

Formation of longer crystals which extend beyond the available surface of the Petri dish and pretty crystal needles of up to 28 mm growing on the edge of the container.

memon®-harmonized Munich tap water

- Of the ten solutions tested, seven crystallized on the edge of the container up to 24 mm high, starting at the bottom of the container and working towards the top edge of the Petri dish. These crystal structures are mainly clumped. There are only a few individual crystal needles.
- When observed under a microscope (10 x), all the crystal forms shows white, crystalline inclusions (probably calcium carbonate and or calcium sulphate)

Non-harmonized Munich tap water

- All ten solutions tested crystallized on the base of the container up to 28 mm high, starting at the bottom of the container and working towards the top edge of the Petri dish. There were also thin, vertical copper (II) chloride crystals which could be seen to have little surface connection to the container material.
- The copper (II) chloride crystals produced in a solution of memon®-harmonized water showed considerably fewer white, crystalline inclusions. Often, the crystal needles produced - which grew up to 28 mm on the edge of the container - were covered with a whiteish, crystalline mineral coating (this is probably calcium carbonate and/or calcium sulphate)

Prior to that, he worked as a chemical technician at an adhesive technology company and at the research department of the institute for organic chemistry.

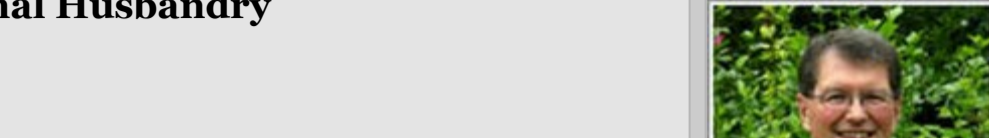

His many years of professional experience allow him to implement research projects with hugely different objectives. In conjunction with his work as a geomantic and feng shui consultant, he is also interested in the particulate aspects of nature.

This includes this work on crystallization of copper (II) chloride in defined aqueous solutions to prove the difference between tap water, i.e. non-harmonized water, and energy-harmonized water.

Peter Dinter extended a method which was previously used to prove organic food production to water analysis with visible success.

Study on Changes Prior and after Implementation of memon® Bionic Instruments On Young Hen

Better Breeding Conditions and Performance with memon® Memonizer.

Willy Baumann, Ing. Agr. HTL

The best possible husbandry of agricultural live stock includes – besides near-natural coop conditions, proper feeding and green space – the reduction of influence detrimental to the health through altered field forces. Particularly in recent years worsened environment conditions turned out to be of strong damaging effect on the health of live stock why the need for an ecologically acceptable, "soft" countermeasure has become more and more urgent and necessary.

Willy Baumann, born in 1951, is married with three grown-up children. After completing studies in practical agriculture in Switzerland, he studied marketing and business management at the Engineering and Agriculture College in Zollikofen, Switzerland. While working, he later completed postgraduate studies in company management at the Technical College in Lucerne. After three informative years working in the cattle and meat trade and in meat processing, he moved over to feed advice for agricultural animals. In line with the implementation of the Swiss Animal Protection Act, he gradually became a holistic specialist consultant on species-specific farming, feeding and breeding.

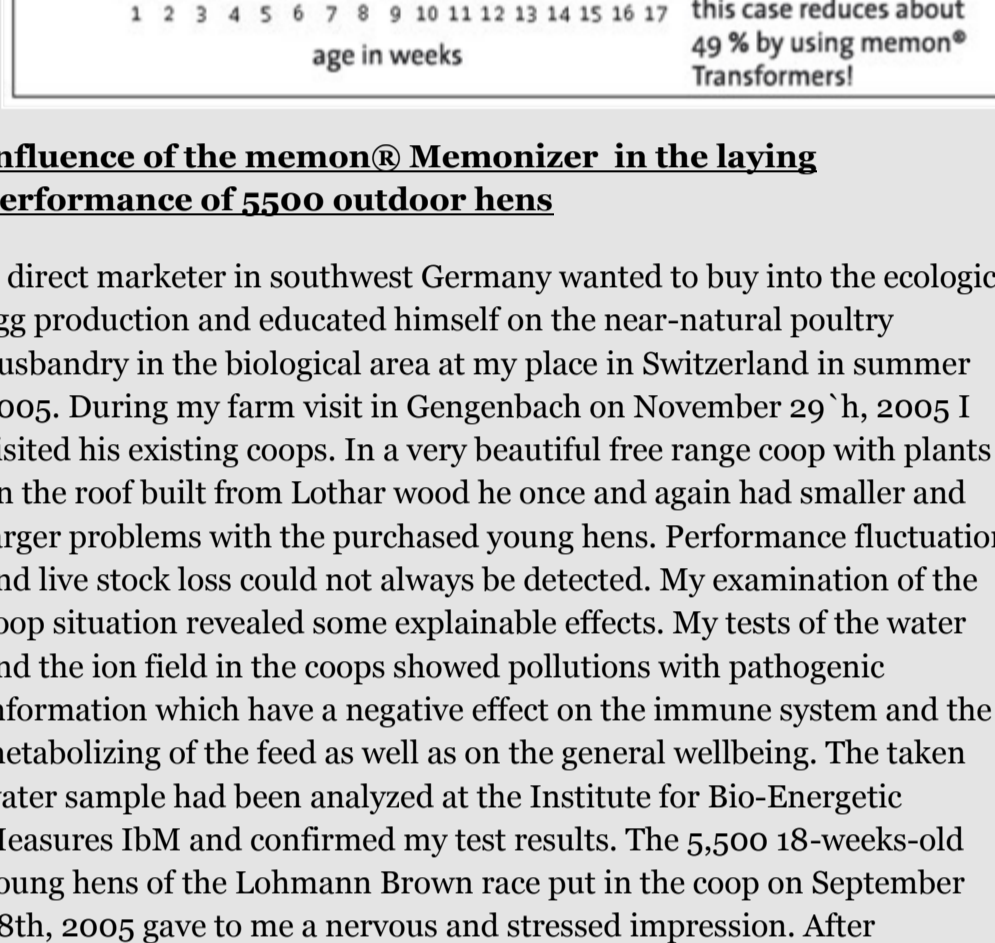

Through the occupation with integral concepts for animal husbandry over decades - especially in the area of poultry breeding and husbandry – one problem turned out to be serious: the enormously strong forming of dust which is basically a result of the changed relation of air ions by electrosmog. This refers to an externally visible indicator for the damaging of health, which is, however, completed by multiple other factors less obvious. The experience of farmers confirms over and over again that animals in heavily contaminated areas perform less and suffer from stress and behavior disorders. In order to reach an intact environment and thus a near-natural and healthy animal husbandry it had to endeavor to reduce the damaging influence as much as possible, if not to eliminate it at all.

As the managing director of a poultry-farming organization, he learned the mechanisms and strategies of the three poultry farming companies which currently operate all over the world.

The following graphics show the different loss of live stock on 6 farms with 11 rounds. The guidelines of the breeding organization are based on a loss of live stock of 2% to 4% in the first 18 weeks of life. The three farms with installed Memonizer Combi or Memonizer Water had a clearly lower loss of live stock with 1.24% than the farms without Transformer with 2.42% in average.

This equals a sensational mortality reduction of 49%.

Influence of the memon® Memonizer in the laying performance of 5500 outdoor hens

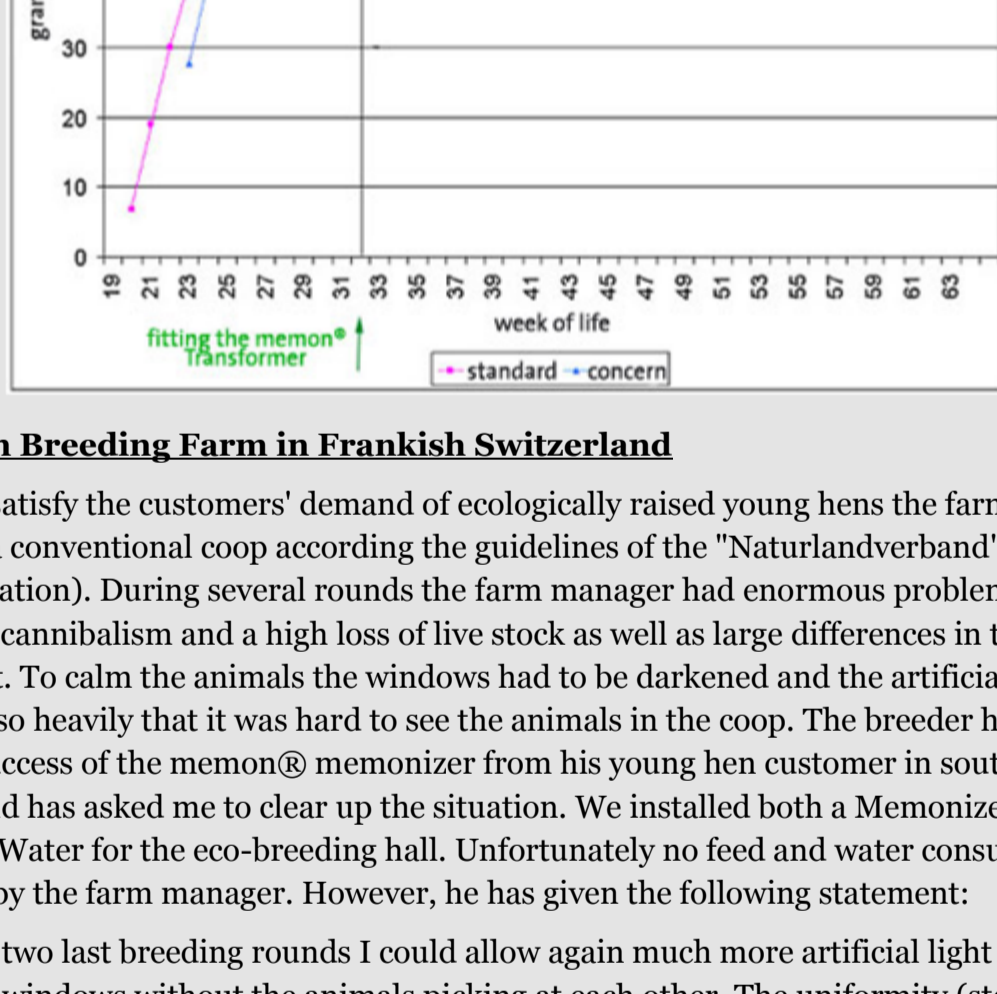

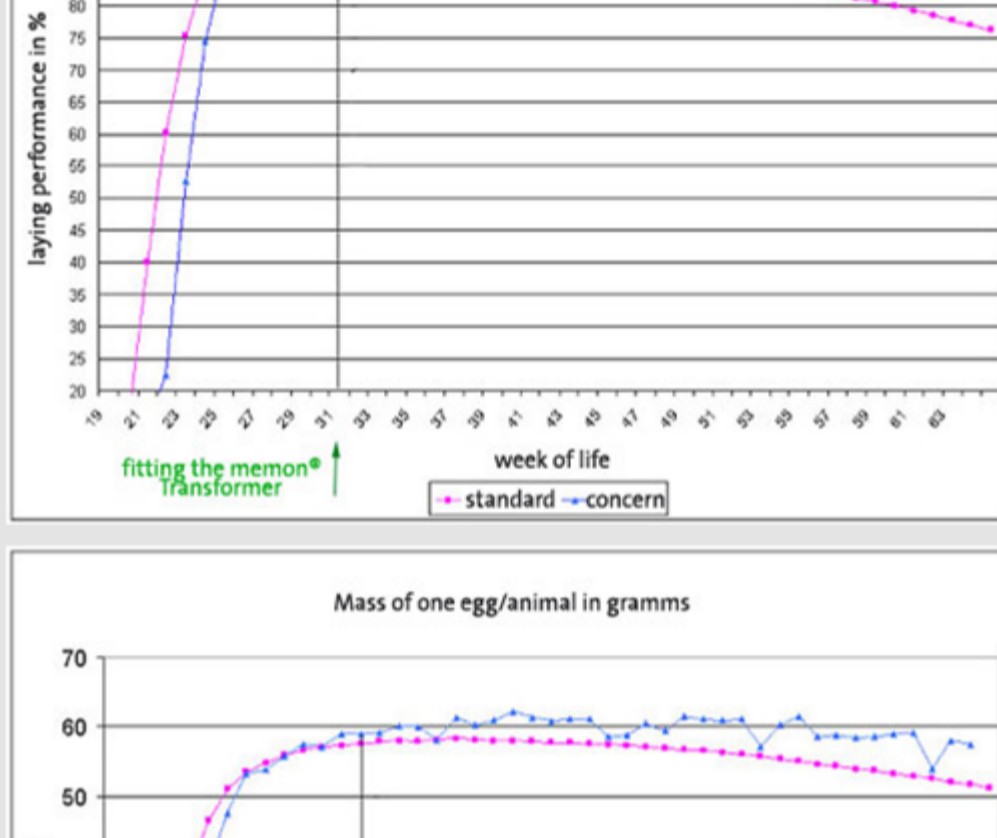

A direct marketer in southwest Germany wanted to buy into the ecological egg production and educated himself on the near-natural poultry husbandry in the biological area at my place in Switzerland in summer 2005. During my farm visit in Gengenbach on November 29th, 2005 I visited his existing coops. In a very beautiful free range coop with plants on the roof built from Lothar wood he once and again had smaller and larger problems with the purchased young hens. Performance fluctuations and live stock loss could not always be detected. My examination of the coop situation revealed some explainable effects. My tests of the water and the ion field in the coops showed pollutions with pathogenic information which have a negative effect on the immune system and the metabolizing of the feed as well as on the general wellbeing. The taken water sample had been analyzed at the Institute for Bio-Energetic Measures IBM and confirmed my test results. The 5,500 18-weeks-old young hens of the Lohmann Brown race put in the coop on September 28th, 2005 gave to me a nervous and stressed impression. After discussing my test results with the farm manager and explaining to him the possibilities of the memon® Memonizer system I installed a Combination and Memonizer Water in the free range coop for a testing phase of six months. When I wanted to check the efficiency of the memonizer during a farm visit on February 8th 2006 he showed me the performance data of the free range hens and I was allowed to install the respective Memonizer on the entire farm.

Since then, Willy Baumann has been working on a poultry farming method which is based on species-specific husbandry and feeding. Since 1995, he has been the managing director of B'ko-Marketing GmbH in Ottenbach, Switzerland. As well as overall business advice, he has developed and implemented a functional multi-climate shed for species-appropriate poultry keeping and at the same time is the author of the book "Species-appropriate chicken farming".

As the main person responsible for the advanced organic guidelines, he is promoting species-appropriate poultry keeping across Germany, Austria and Switzerland, this involves feeding systems for integrated animal nutrition and product development for organic food sources in Germany and Switzerland. Willy Baumann's expertise has landed him positions on various panels of organic associations in Germany, Austria and Switzerland over the last ten years, and he is often asked for advice. For some years, he has focused his agricultural advice on development strategies to protect against negative environmental influences and on alternative therapies for domestic livestock.

The farm manager provided me with the performance data of the above mentioned live stock. The analysis of the 5,500 free range hens showed in the first three months the performance course usual for the farm. After the installation of the memon® memonizer system in the 32nd age week the animals lied even less eggs than the standard guidelines of the Lohman breeding organization but the size of the eggs increased due to the higher intake of water.

The first worsening also known from homeopathy ended after about three weeks. As of the 35th age week the hens laid more and larger eggs as any herd before and even more than the standard laying curve of the breeding organization had set. The laying backlog versus the performance standard of about 42,000 eggs until the 35th age week had been changed by the laying hens to a level of close to 5,000 eggs after 28 weeks. These data show the clear impact of harmonizing the environmental conditions on the commitment to perform and on the animals' wellbeing.

Young Hen Breeding Farm in Frankish Switzerland

In order to satisfy the customers' demand of ecologically raised young hens the farm manager had remodeled a conventional coop according the guidelines of the "Naturlandverband" (Natural Land Association). During several rounds the farm manager had enormous problems with feather picking and cannibalism and a high loss of live stock as well as large differences in the young hens' weight. To calm the animals the windows had to be darkened and the artificial light had to be dimmed so heavily that it was hard to see the animals in the coop. The breeder had heard about the success of the memon® memonizer from his young hen customer in south-western Germany and has asked me to clear up the situation. We installed both a Memonizer Combi- and Memonizer Water for the eco-breeding hall. Unfortunately no feed and water consumption data is collected by the farm manager. However, he has given the following statement:

"During the two last breeding rounds I could allow again much more artificial light and daylight through the windows without the animals picking at each other. The uniformity (steadiness) of the herd and the weight of the animals has improved tremendously and the customers are very happy with the performance reached by the young hens I deliver."

Conclusion

The installation of the memon® memonizer shows a clear improvement of different environmental conditions. In all farms the animals drink more water and the performance is increased and/or the feed consumption is reduced. The result is a better feed utilization, i.e. the expenditure of feed per kilogram egg mass is reduced. In all coops the pollution through dust and smell has been reduced after installing the memonizer.

Hormone Measurement

by: Prof. Dr. R. Schmidt-Borelli

Hormone level test to verify the effectiveness of the memon technology, conducted on 40 male and female people with ages between 20 and 60 years

The latest scientific study on the memon® Memonizer shows that memon® has succeeded in its breakthrough. The working of the memon® Bionic Instruments has for the first time been proven through a conventional clinical test, meaning, a scientifically recognized study.

What is the hormone level test?

Originally, measurements of the hormone values were obtained from the blood. This was an unstable analysis and an alternative effective method has been found, to use the saliva instead of blood to obtain the values. Obtaining the sample is easy, painless and can be done at any time at any place. This allows obtaining values during any time of the day. The measurement of hormone values from saliva is very accurate as due to the biological activity, free parts of hormones can easily be obtained.

Cortisol and DHEA are the most important hormones being distributed through the body, when psychological and or physical stress occurs. Their main functionalities are related to the metabolism, the immune system, the psychological feelings and the regulation of growth. They enable the metabolism, promote the glucose provision, change the psychological reaction capabilities and intervene enormously with the immune system. They have anti-inflammatory functionalities and block certain specific and non-specific immune system functionalities.

The importance of hormones, the impact of imbalances

Hormones are biochemical messengers. They exchange complex information between organs and tissue. In this way, they affect our well-being. Hormones are responsible for the production of numerous vital substances. Hormones forward not only simple messages, but responsible for all sentiments. They control organ functions and areas such as growth and sexuality. If these from protein derivatives are no longer intact, they can no longer transport necessary commands and this can lead to the following symptoms:

- Feeling of Fear
- Need for sweet
- Depression
- Lack of energy
- Joint and muscle pain
- Nervousness
- Weight Problems
- Loss of hair
- Incontinency
- Lack of concentration
- Headache
- Lack of performance
- Libido disorder
- Menopause complaints
- Migraine
- Muscular weakness
- Sweating
- Osteoporosis
- Bad temper
- Sleep disorder
- Dizziness
- Cycle disorder

The hormone balance is crucial for the health and the wellbeing in life!

What is measured?

Saliva is produced in the mouth through mainly 3 pairs of glands. In these glands, you find a network of capillary vessels. Cortisol, DHEA and other steroid hormones are small molecules, and they can pass the membrane cells in the mouth, so when you find them in the saliva, the hormones stays stable over a long period of time, as the concentrations of enzymes are considerably lower in the blood.

Scientific recognition:

Around 20 years ago, science found that measuring Cortisol, derived from blood is always unstable because this hormone clearly reacts when taking blood, they started to search an alternative way to measure the hormone through radioactivity. Around 5 to 7 years ago, they found a way through enzymatic laboratory tests. They were for the first time able to measure Cortisol values in saliva. Renowned universities started research of hormone measurement through saliva investigations, and came to the realization that the measurement of the free hormones in saliva lead to adequate measurement, more adequate than measurement through the use of blood.

This form of measurement soon became recognized. The laboratory of Prof. Borelli, working in collaboration with two reputable universities on hormone level measurement through the use of enzymes, obtained one of the largest related databases in Europe. Strictly analytical speaking, this medicine is not a science. It is empiric, this means learning from experience. Experiences of centuries, millennia accumulated. Purely medical, this measurement with enzymes has been a blessing from the start and has found high recognition from the very beginning. References, studies, statements fill up whole libraries, so only an excerpt of this important publication on this theme has been given.

A preliminary study from restricted sizes showed that after a short time with the application of the memon® Bionic Instruments, which is incorporated in the Memonizer Combi and the Memonizer Mobile, we saw a change in stress hormone Cortisol and DHEA towards the ideal values.

The Cortisol and DHEA values were measured in the morning and evening before the installation of the memon® Bionic Instruments and again after 3-4 weeks of the installation of the memon® Bionic Instruments in the daily life of the test persons.

The impression gained from this preliminary study is that through the use of memon® Memonizer in all subjects, we see original hormone values of Cortisol and DHEA which fall outside the upper and lower ideal values, we see a clear change of the values towards the ideal values.

Conclusion:

The clinical trial survey shows clearly that through the involvement of the memon® Bionic Instruments, a spontaneous improvement of the hormone misbalances were obtained, in particular Cortisol and DHEA.

The accuracy of the enzymatic measurement is guaranteed by control mechanisms.

The laboratory has the largest European database of hormone value diagnosis; the resulting experience of this was also incorporated in the assessment of the study.

The Result

In all cases, both cortisol and DHEA significantly tended towards ideal values. The first three graphs below in green show the data for blue are for males. These are plots of percentage improvements for measurements of hormone values with a home protection (Memonizer Combi) device present relative to no device being present at all.

You see different examples of different installation versions. No actual structural changes are needed in existing control systems. Each product comes with extensive multi-lingual installation instructions.

Normally the installation is done professionally by your memon® consultant. You can easily install the memonizer mobile and vehicle yourself.

Memonizer Water Installation

Installation the Memonizer Water in an apartment to the cold water faucet

Installation of the Memonizer Water in a house to the water pipes in the cellar

Installation of the Memonizer Water (alternatively) under the water meter

Memonizer Combi Installation

Installation the Memonizer Combi on an electricity meter

Installation the Memonizer Combi on a circuit breaker

Installation the Memonizer Combi (flat version) in the door of a circuit breaker panel

Memonizer Heating

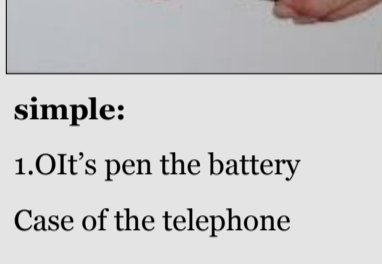

Installation the Memonizer Heating on a heating pipe

Memonizer Vehicle

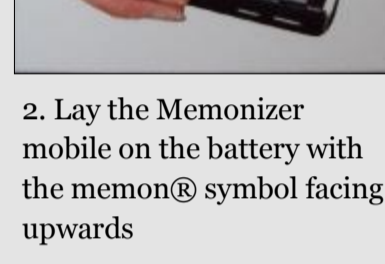

Installation the MemonizerCAR near the positive pole on an auto battery

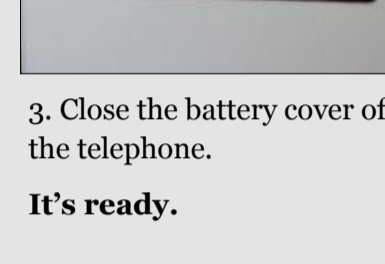

Memonizer Mobile

simple:
1. Of it's pen the battery Case of the telephone

2. Lay the Memonizer mobile on the battery with the memon® symbol facing upwards

3. Close the battery cover of the telephone.
It's ready.

One can also install on devices which cannot be opened.

One can use the protective foil which is provided for this purpose in order to attach the transformer.

In this case, an i-Phone installation.

Testimonials with memon® memonizer mobile

Ann 12-Jun-2007

My husband is working for a big company and is constantly using his cell phone. In the evening he is just exhausted and is regularly complaining about headaches. After placing the Memon ® memonizer mobile in a few day's his headache disappeared and he is less tired.

Realizing that EMF radiation can harm my family and child's health & brain cells, I installed the memon® memonizer mobile in each of their cell phones, including my cordless phone.

Better to invest a little money and be 100% protected for 20 years then taking the risk for serious health problems caused by EMF memon® protects me.

Nisia 15-Sep-2007

I can see that my child is less hyperactive and more concentrated after I placed a memon® memonizer mobile on his cell phone.

I know that EMF radiation could be harmful, but I see now how much it affected my child and myself.

Truus 15-May-2007

My memon® memonizer mobile helps me to stay more focused and my ear is staying cool, what was without the protection a real problem.

Thank you for this new technology that proves that protection from radiation is possible.

Letter from Mikro Medica GmbH

to Herrn Horst Stagge
Heberweg 7
57462 Olpe Bischoffen,
July 19 th, 2004

Dear Mr. Stagge,

As I have conducted several tests by now I wanted to inform you about my results. We have tested the car transformer by means of the micro test and the individual vehicle owners. It turned out that some vehicle owners have lost 75% of their energy without the above mentioned transformer as soon as they had started the engines.

As soon as the transformer had been placed on the plus pole of the car battery the entire car was free of interferences within 10 seconds. For that reason I would recommend every car driver to install a transformer in the car.

A short explanation how we tested:

The driver has been tested on his energy values by means of micro test (see internet: www.mikro-medica.de).

The healthy organism has a regulative basic value of 80mV voltage and about 4-7 microampere flowing energy.

The values without transformer are about 25-45 mV and a double energy consumption of 15-20 microampere.

Likewise, double blind tests were conducted. The results are the same.

For my part I do not want to be without transformer anymore. Since I have it in my car I feel completely relaxed even on long distance drives.

Best regards

Rolf Lichtenberg

Dear Sir or Madam:

Over the last period of time we are receiving water samples for testing on pollutants in the microscopic area. As response products we are testing about 150 substances from the fields of heavy metal, environment toxins and pharmaceutical toxins. As a rule we prove about 10-20 substances from the different areas in water.

After the installation of your water and e-smog system no pollutants can be proven in water anymore. The interested parties report also that the taste has considerably improved and more water is being consumed. We congratulate you on this water improver.

Successful continuation!

Kind regards Horst Stagge

Polarity, Resonance and Vibration

What vibrations?

is found in nature and how does it differ from manmade

In today's world, we are surrounded by unnatural vibrations. Just looking around homes and offices, we find influences from an ever-increasing number of electrical devices, all emitting electromagnetic fields; frequencies from cell phone radiation, wireless networks, cordless phones and many others. Aside from this 'E-smog', more and more chemicals can be found as well in the packing and contents of the spaces we live in. How will this affect us in the long run? This is difficult to say. It appears a worldwide experiment is happening. Numbers show us that there is a huge increase in the numbers of people who are becoming ill. For doctors and holistic therapists alike, it becomes ever more challenging for to identify the root causes of the complex symptoms their patients are presenting with and develop a treatment regime that will support the patients' natural healing processes.

We live in this environment, which is increasingly affecting us, instead of in a natural one. The two most important environmental pollutants that influence our health, electricity and mercury, can't even be diagnosed. Mercury does reside in fat tissue and bone marrow. However, you will not find mercury in a blood sample. Influences from electricity cannot be directly traced, although there are a range of studies and recommendations available from governments around the world, linking illness to exposure from (electromagnetic radiation) EMR / (radio frequency) RF and (extremely low frequency) ELF - EMR. The only broadly recognized criteria to determine safety standards on exposure of electrical influences are an increase of temperature on the tissue. There are no other criteria and no measurement on long-term exposure taken into consideration.

A remedy cannot be provided if the source of the problem is not recognized. In cities we are continuously influenced by electrical fields, Mercury can now be traced in many of our food products and is present as mercury vapor in the high efficiency compact fluorescent light bulbs.

Our environment should be natural, though, based on the directions we seem to pursue as a modern society, this appears to be largely forgotten.

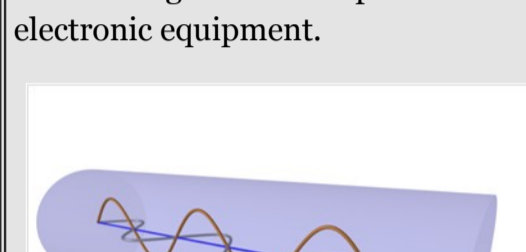

We may ask, what is found in nature that is lacking in our current environment? And how do the unnatural influences we now surround ourselves in affect our bodies? Low intensities of a damaging influence might be more dangerous than a very big intensity. With a large intensity, you can take immediate action when you notice the danger. When you are not aware of the situation as in constant low intensities, you may, simply through circumstance be exposed to its influence.

What do you find in nature? Natural vibrations, at a scalar (or quantum physics) level, mainly coming from the Sun and the Earth. All life on earth has evolved and grown with exposure to these natural vibrations or energies. But what is energy; is this purely a force that is able to be measured at a particular intensity? Einstein mentioned in his works that there is both energy and information in all matter. They come hand in hand.

Let's go a bit deeper into this concept. Assume we have a man made vibration, such as electricity. Below you find a representation of such a wave, with its electrical and magnetic vibration creating an electro-magnetic field. This is the energetic wave. In North America, it is mainly 110V 60Hz. In Europe and Australia a 220V - 240V, 50Hz transmission is commonly used. The wave is a sinus wave and its field can be measured with a Gauss meter, which measures only the intensity of that wave.

The intensity of a wave is an interesting measurement, but of more interest is the quality of the wave and how it may affect us?

Information is vibration that surrounds the energy wave. Mathematicians also refer to this component as the scalar part. Below you find an attempt to visualize the scalar part of this electrical wave, which is represented by the gray zone. This scalar information surrounding the electro-magnetic wave operates a very high frequency, which cannot be measured with our regular electronic equipment.

We could make an analogy with a conversation. We use our voice, which creates vibration in the air, and transmits the words from one person to another, but the actual words are representing the information.

By use of different words or information, we can cause an emotion, friction, a reaction. Information is always around us and we find it so obvious. Research is advancing in this field.

Quantum physics is about information and how the observer collapses particles depending on how the observation is done. In other words, the information is indicating the way the energy is affecting its environment.

For our bodies and for all living organisms, it is very important to have a natural environment. That's why we find that eating organic just sounds logical. But why is this? Might it be that organic foods contain information from the sunlight and its frequency specific to our bodies, our cells, and our biology?

The second key concept to embrace in relation to the scalar information that potentially nurtures or damages our bodies is the concept of polarity. Polarity, like the poles on a magnet or the positive and negative terminals on a battery is required to support the flow of energy and the accompanying information.

No energy can flow if there is a disturbance to the polarity. This mechanism is also true for the cells in our body.

If the polarity of the poles of a battery is disturbed, no current or energy will flow. In that case, you won't be able to start your car engine. When polarities at the cellular level are disturbed, the energy within the cell will not flow.

In the book 'The Biology of Belief' by Bruce Lipton, a cell biologist, describes a representation of a basic building block of our cells, a protein. Within the protein, there exists blocks containing differing polarities, positive and negatively charged components. Depending on the charges, different reactions will occur. A plus and a minus will attract each other, causing reactions. Over 100.000 reactions occur every second in the cell.

Simplified representation of a protein molecule containing positive and negative charges

When looking at man-made vibrations, such as electricity or chemicals, they translate to polarities that are different to the polarities found in nature, or our bodies. This will simply cause an exposure to an unknown polarity and this can cause disturbances to the flow of energy within the body. This is why our environment, containing more and more manmade vibrations, chemicals and so much more, is causing increasing levels of interference with our wellbeing. How this will translate to our health for this generation and those to follow is a big question as the human population has never been exposed to such a large number of unnatural influences.

The important point to understand here is that man-made vibrations come with information you don't find in nature, causing polarities and disturbances in our cells that are different to those we were designed to naturally exist with.

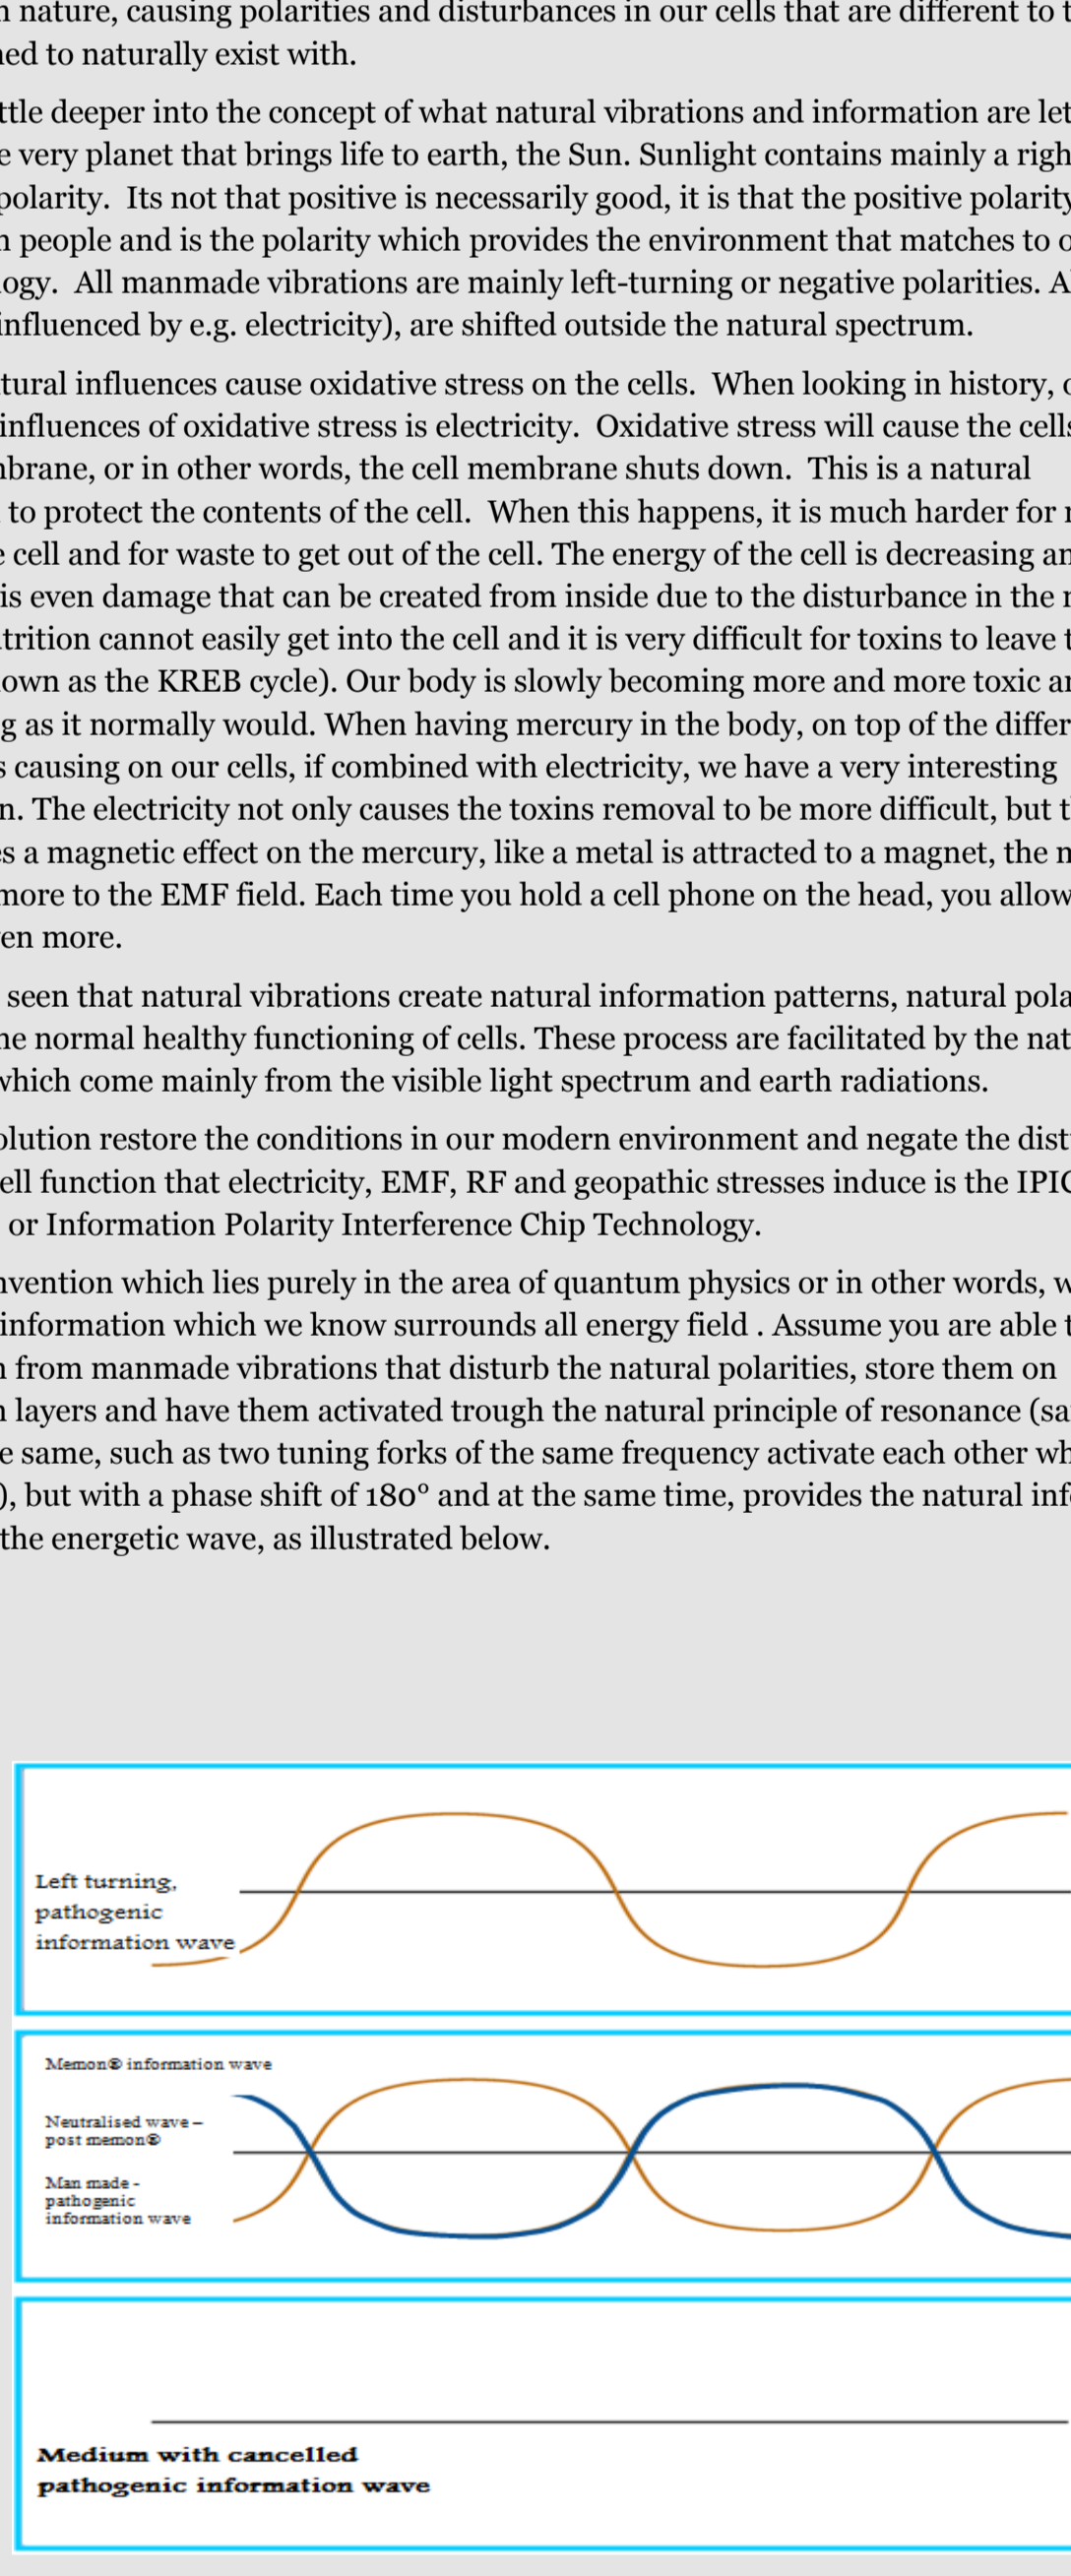

Delving a little deeper into the concept of what natural vibrations and information are let's consider the very planet that brings life to earth, the Sun. Sunlight contains mainly a right turning or positive polarity. Its not that positive is necessarily good, it is that the positive polarity is most dominant in people and is the polarity which provides the environment that matches to our natural biology. All manmade vibrations are mainly left-turning or negative polarities. All foods, water etc, (influenced by e.g. electricity), are shifted outside the natural spectrum.

These unnatural influences cause oxidative stress on the cells. When looking in history, one of the biggest influences of oxidative stress is electricity. Oxidative stress will cause the cells to close its cell membrane, or in other words, the cell membrane shuts down. This is a natural mechanism to protect the contents of the cell. When this happens, it is much harder for nutrition to get in the cell and for waste to get out of the cell. The energy of the cell is decreasing and over time, there is even damage that can be created from inside due to the disturbance in the natural flow. So nutrition cannot easily get into the cell and it is very difficult for toxins to leave the cell (broadly known as the KREB cycle). Our body is slowly becoming more and more toxic and not regenerating as it normally would. When having mercury in the body, on top of the difference of polarity it is causing on our cells, if combined with electricity, we have a very interesting combination. The electricity not only causes the toxins removal to be more difficult, but the EMF wave creates a magnetic effect on the mercury, like a metal is attracted to a magnet, the mercury will attach more to the EMF field. Each time you hold a cell phone on the head, you allow mercury to attach even more.

So it can be seen that natural vibrations create natural information patterns, natural polarities and allow the normal healthy functioning of cells. These process are facilitated by the natural vibrations which come mainly from the visible light spectrum and earth radiations.

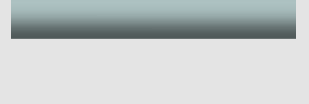

A holistic solution restore the conditions in our modern environment and negate the disturbances to natural cell function that electricity, EMF, RF and geopathic stresses induce is the IPICT technology, or Information Polarity Interference Chip Technology.

This is an invention which lies purely in the area of quantum physics or in other words, works at the level of information which we know surrounds all energy field. Assume you are able to trace information from manmade vibrations that disturb the natural polarities, store them on information layers and have them activated through the natural principle of resonance (same activates the same, such as two tuning forks of the same frequency activate each other when one is vibrating), but with a phase shift of 180° and at the same time, provides the natural information patterns to the energetic wave, as illustrated below.

The consequence will be that the polarity of the manmade energies found in the environment will behave like energies that are found in nature. Any possible pathological influence of that wave will be completely neutralized and this energy will now be nurturing to our biology instead of being out of sync. Einstein stated: "No problem can be solved when approached from the same level of consciousness in which the problem has been created".

The use of the IPICT® chip in the entire memon® product range is a revolutionary concept that harnesses the very principles which nurture and support life on this planet and has proven through dozens of independent tests from a range of government and scientific bodies over the last 20 years to provide positive measurable effects. A technology that can help you relief all these environmental stresses. What we really would like to see happening, is that pollutants are cleaned and offered technologies don't contain any unnatural vibrations. Blessings to right spinning energies.

MEMON® BIONIC INSTRUMENTS.....RENATURE YOUR LIFE

Legend Hans-Joachim Stuck, driving his last race with memon®.

The stucco dynasty began in the ADAC 24 hour race at the Nurburgring on the memon® MemonizerCAR.

Hans-Joachim Stuck is a living racing legend. At the age of 60 he took his last race before retiring permanently from active racing, just at the place where his star rose as the age of 19, in the "green hell", the legendary Nurburgring Nordschleife. Just in time for his retirement, Strietzel Stuck was using the memon® Bionic Instruments and probably the most emotional race® Memonizer CAR to benefit . This not only protects against electromagnetic pollution, but also keeps the driver a cool head, and a high concentration level. This means an increase in active safety.

The "Green Hell" of the Nürburgring racetrack in the world is very demanding, they are being measured every year for the best racers. This time, however, a driver whom is more than any other in the limelight - Hans Joachim Stuck. Not only the audience celebrated the former Formula 1 driver, but also racing driver and his colleagues were full of praise and recognition for his 43-year racing career. For Strietzel, it was definitely the last professional race of his career and it went for the "old Rennhaudegen a long awaited dream" come true: You can start with the 24-hour race at the Nurburgring in a team with his two sons, John and Ferdinand. The team was strengthened by Dennis Rostek Stuck3 yet.

The veteran begins a half hour Strietzel races around the track, then he drives the car, grabs his helmet with the stars, his trademark off. He gets rid of the refractory cover. His bright blue eyes sparkle when he passes the Lamborghini to his son Ferdinand. "Geil" he cries out, laughing. Hans-Joachim Stuck is fun. His personal goal for this racing spectacle. "Arrive", the placement should be only incidental. And that was already a very ambitious goal. Because never before has a race car of this type to come a Lamborghini LG600 at a 24-hour race to the finish. "I feel great. Completely fit. I have the Memonizer CAR installed in my private car and I always felt very relaxed. But now, under racing conditions in this extreme form - I am absolutely thrilled! " Hans Joachim Stuck. Less stress, more security , it's the little things in a race, the difference between victory and defeat, or failure to arrive. When we went Stuck3 team this time and innovative ways to put the benefits of memon® Bionic Instruments. The memon® Memonizer CAR not only has a positive impact on the occupants, but also to the entire on-board electronics. And to get to the point, the goal of "arriving" was more than achieved. Starting from position 34 was able to make the team in the race Stuck3 19 seats and ended on a great 15th Place in the standings, despite technical difficulties with the transmission and resulting delays.

Blood tests show phenomenal values, was pioneering memon® Bionic Instruments in a unique experiment, when the test was done to the car battery by using memon® Memonizer CAR. In mid-May in the ADAC GT Masters, it was made a comparative study of two stucco-blood sons Ferdinand and John. We have commissioned research laboratory was demonstrated here that certain stress-induced blood values could be significantly improved through the use of the device: blood flow and oxygen transport. So the opinions are, when using the Memonizer CAR considerably better, so "John showed no signs of stress could be more determined in the blood" and Ferdinand "had no stress consequences of any kind to prove". These findings have now been phenomenal in the blood measurements with Hans-Joachim Stuck confirmed. The use of memon® Memonizer CAR was the 24h race at Nurburgring and has no more obstacles. The driver can maintain a continuously high concentration level. All electromagnetic fields (EMF) in a vehicle is harmonized. Fatigue is reduced, increasing the concentration of power. Both are the basic requirements for safety, especially in regular street traffic.

Fine Dust

by Grimm Aerosol-Technik, Dr. Friedhelm Schneider

What are fine and ultra fine dust particles?

Particulates in the air which are very small that they can float for some time = Dust or Particulate Matter (PM). Fine and ultra fine particles are part of the dust but with a very small diameter :

Fine dust: smaller than 2,5 µm and bigger than 0,1 µm

Health risks of fine and ultrafine dust particles

We spent 80% of the daily time indoors.
Approx. 8 hours at work
Approx. 1-2 hours on our PC
Exposure to dust from various Sources, also gaseous substances, such as VOC (Volatile Organic Compounds), ozone, odors ...
There are no limits on dust for indoor air!

The aim must therefore be:
minimize exposure
identify sources
reduce emissions

Particulate pollution in the indoor exceeds particulate pollution on the outdoor area by a factor of 1.5 – 2

People spend much more time indoors than outdoors, therefore, particulate pollution in indoor spaces is of far greater health relevance than outdoors.

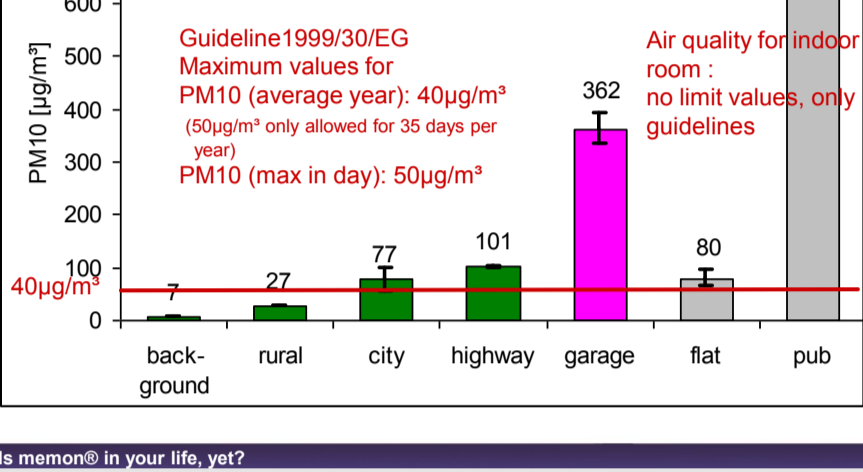

Indoor particulate matter has a higher toxic potential than dust outside the home because of higher humidity in the interior (* = Better growth of microorganisms)

Epidemiological studies from USA and Europe:

The smaller the inhaled particles, the more health damage it can cause (penetration depth, dwell time)

Airborne particulates can have a variety of environmental toxins such as heavy metals and they act toxic when you inhale these particulates.

Particulates from diesel have been proven to have a carcinogenic effect

Study by the European Commission:

There are annually 65.000 deaths in Germany due to cardiac circulatory diseases, caused or promoted by air pollution.

Following studies, the most dangerous particulates are the small dust particles (PM 2.5, ultrafine dusts). For this type of dust particulates, there are neither limits nor a surveillance network.

Dr. Ulrich Franck of the Environmental Research Centre Helmholtz:

"Against smaller particles, man has no defense mechanisms (such as with larger ones) "

The memon® technology causes the recovery of the natural ion flow and the attachment of the particles of all magnitude to the negative ions.

This causes a significant particulate matter reduction in the environment.

We have a measurably highly effective bio-technology in hand, that causes the reduction of pollutant concentration of the particulate matter in all rooms of the building, with all the positive consequences for the well being of people living or working in the harmonized area!
